$60,000 To Be Released By Christmas Clubs

DEPOSITORS GET CHECKS DECEMBER 1

More Money in Santa Ana Accounts This Season, Bankers Reveal

Approximately $60,000 will be released into trade channels December 1 by 3200 Santa Anans who have made regular deposits through Christmas clubs in the four banks of the city.

Santa Ana banks accepting Christmas club deposits will place checks in the mail the night of November 30 to depositors who availed themselves of the opportunity to accumulate Christmas money through regular weekly deposits of small sums. The checks will be delivered the morning of December 1, in time for Christmas shopping.

More Depositors
Representatives of the four Santa Ana banks said today that the $60,000 to be distributed this year is approximately $10,000 more than the amount distributed last year. It also is significant, they said, that there were more depositors in the Christmas funds this year. Last year the number of depositors approximated 2900, bankers said.

Nationally $350,000,000 is being distributed on December 1, through Christmas clubs to 7,500,000 members. In California the amount to be distributed will total $13,510,000. While the money is deposited in the banks under the Christmas club designation, a large part of the money will be used for other purposes, according to Herbert F. Rawlin, founder and president of the Christmas club.

Used For Savings
Rawlin estimated that 42 per cent of the money to be distributed December 1 will be used for Christmas purchases. Another 25 per cent he said, will go into permanent savings and 8 per cent of the total will be used in meeting year-end commitments. Taxes will take another 12 per cent of the national total with mortgage interest and insurance premiums accounting for the expenditure of 11 per cent of the total. The remaining two per cent will be spent for travel, education and charity.

According to officers of the four Santa Ana banks the average amount to be sent to each member of the various Christmas clubs is $46.50.

FEDERAL FUNDS GET EEN VALLEY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The Public Works administration today allotted $2,740,000—$1,518,000 loan and $1,242,000 grant—to California for Imperial irrigation district to finance construction of the first unit of the $38,500,000 All-American canal power project.

The unit, Administrator Harold L. Ickes said, can be completed within a year, making jobs for an average of 1550 men throughout the life of the project.

The bureau of reclamation is making plans for construction of the first unit, which will be a plant at site No. 4 on the canal.

The plant will utilize a 47-foot drop in the canal, generating 18,500 kilowatts of power. The plant contemplated under today's allotment will utilize one-half the maximum generating power.

LOYALISTS PLAN BLOCKADE FIGHT

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(UP)—A big concentration of Madrid government warships in the Mediterranean was reported in authoritative sources here today.

The concentration was regarded as a sign that Madrid was preparing to defy the threatened insurgent blockade of Barcelona, Alicante and other ports, and if necessary, to challenge the insurgent fleet to a decisive test of naval strength.

Ships At Barcelona
The Madrid government has concentrated at Barcelona the battleship Jaime I, the six-inch gun cruisers Libertad, Corvantes and Mendez Nunez, 17 destroyers and torpedo boats and one or two submarines.

The disposition of the insurgent vessels was uncertain, but it was known the cruiser Republica was at Cadiz. The cruisers Canarias and Cervera were believed to be at Ceuta, Morocco.

NATIONALISTS, LOYALISTS STAGE AIR BATTLE

MADRID, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Nationalist and Loyalist air forces clashed in another spectacular battle high above Madrid today which resulted in shooting down of at least three planes.

The fight occurred after the insurgent planes showered Madrid with another death-dealing bombardment. The attacking planes swept on the city at 3:50 p. m.

Dive On Enemy
Loyalist squadrons, which had patrolled the air above the capital since today's first raid in the morning hours, darted into the fight in an effort to drive the enemy away.

The hostile aerial forces soon clashed in a desperate dog fight, machine guns spitting fire and steel.

STRIKES ARE OPPOSED IN RESOLUTION

Radicals Given Blame For Ship Trouble in Gulf, Atlantic Districts

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 19.—(UP)—The battle of craft unions against John L. Lewis gathered strength today when the American Federation of Labor convention adopted a resolution condemning the Atlantic and Gulf maritime strikes.

The resolution was introduced by officials of the International Seamen's Union, who have opposed the strike led by seamen favorable to Lewis' rebel committee for industrial organization.

Action Speeded
It was reported the resolutions committee speeded favorable action in order to strengthen the hand of the old guard Seamen's union leaders. Mayor Fiorella LaGuardia of New York had proposed a referendum by the strikers because of confusion resulting from the union's internal controversy.

The resolution declared "certain self-styled radicals aided and abetted by Communists and other extremists have succeeded in misleading some of the members of the Atlantic district unions into sporadic strikes."

Moral Support Pledged
The convention was urged to pledge "our moral support to all the loyal Atlantic coast members who refuse to be coerced or stampeded into an outlaw strike."

President William Greene called for a vote immediately after the resolution was reported and it carried over the "noes" of a dozen or so delegates.

Meanwhile, the possibility of emulating international developments fanned when Spanish Ambassador Fernando De Los Rios decided not to attempt to address the convention.

FORMER WIFE OF VALLEE DIES

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Messages of condolence came from the film and radio world today to the grieving father of Fay Webb Vallee, former actress wife of Radio Crooner Rudy Vallee, who died last night.

41-Hour Coma
She succumbed at 9 p. m. without recovering from a 41-hour coma. The 30-year-old former screen extra amazed physicians with the tenacity with which she clung to life fighting peritonitis which set in following an operation last Friday.

In New York, Vallee broke down and cried when he was told of the death of his former wife. So broken was he in his grief that it was necessary to cancel his appearance at the French casino shortly after midnight.

ARIZONA LEGISLATORS URGE U. S. TO LEASE MEXICO LAND; GULF SEAPORT IS SUGGESTED

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Arizona's house of representatives today adopted a memorial urging that the United States lease some hundreds of thousands of acres of Northern Mexico desert land for development of a seaport on the Gulf of California.

Addressed To Hull
The memorial was addressed to Secretary of State Cordell Hull and urged diplomatic negotiations with Mexico immediately to lease a large section of Northern Sonora state in Mexico called "El Camino Del Diablo" (Road of the Devil District). Roughly, the territory would embrace land lying north of a line drawn straight west to the Gulf of California from Nogales, Ariz.

Wisener intimated in his memorial that the Gadsden purchase, ratified December 30, 1853, should have included this area, but that instead of traveling straight west to the gulf, the surveyors swung northwestward at Nogales to a point 20 miles south of the junction of the Colorado and Gila rivers.

Rich Farming Empire
This area, Wisener argued, is of "insignificant" value to Mexico, but could be developed into a rich agricultural empire by extension of the Yuma-Gila reclamation project in southwestern Arizona.

The memorial asked specifically that "diplomatic conversations be undertaken with appropriate authorities of the Republic of Mexico to ascertain if a lease, for an adequate term of years, and on terms and conditions mutually satisfactory and advantageous, might not be entered into where the United States shall obtain jurisdiction of the territory referred to and to make feasible and practical development and utilization of its natural resources."

Backed By Attorney
U. S. Marshal Robert Clark, who had refused to execute the "banana order" unless a $10,000,000 bond were posted to protect ship and cargo, was supported by the line's attorney, who informed federal Judge Paul J. McCormick he would insist upon a high bond to protect the $3,000,000 California cargo and any injury to its men.

Jo Anderson, the attorney, did not specify what bond would be demanded.

Judge McCormick yesterday eliminated the International Longshoremen's association as a defendant in the above cause, but did not disturb his previous ruling, granting the union the right to intervene in the "banana order."

98,719 CARS SHIPPED IN PAST SEASON

C. C. Teague Re-elected As President of Exchange; Returns Increase

In "its best year since the depression started," the California citrus industry received $111,715,561, f. o. b. shipping point, for 98,719 carloads of oranges, lemons and grapefruit sold during the season ended October 31, Paul S. Armstrong, general manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, reported.

This was an increase in f. o. b. returns of 14.1-4 millions of dollars, or 17 per cent, over the previous year for 8 per cent less fruit.

For the 17th consecutive year, C. C. Teague was elected president of this co-operative marketing group now entering its 45th year of service to the citrus industry.

Exchange sales reached 73,753 carloads, made up of 42,653 cars of oranges, 3,699 of grapefruit, 16,336 of lemons and 9,565 cars of loose (unpacked) fruit of these varieties. Exchange shippers received, f. o. b. packing houses, $84,864,322, and the delivered value to the wholesale trade was $115,117,641.

Exchange shipments represented 75 per cent of the total citrus movement. Based on the assumption that non-exchange fruit brought equal returns, the f. o. b. value of the entire crop was $111,715,561, with a delivered carload value of $152,403,540.

Total citrus shipments from all producing states last season were 148,907 carloads, which exceeds the annual average for the five years ended with 1929 by 30.8 per cent, the report stated.

Lemon shipments by the exchange were the heaviest ever made, reaching 18,663 cars, packed and loose. Although the 1936 lemon crop was 30 per cent less than the 34,000 car crop of 1935, still it was greater than any previous year's total consumption of lemons as fresh fruit.

The average cost of all branches of Exchange service, except advertising, amounted to 5.45 cents per box.

F. D. R. TO REACH TRINIDAD NOV. 21

ABOARD U. S. S. CHESTER, AT SEA, Nov. 19.—(UP)—President Roosevelt proved himself a "good sailor" today as he sped southward aboard the cruiser Indianapolis toward South America for the opening of the Pan-American conference at Buenos Aires on December 1.

The weather was warm and cloudy and no seasickness among the presidential party had developed, despite choppy seas.

The Indianapolis set a course at 25 knots toward the passage between Santo Domingo and Puerto Rico and planned a record run to Argentina from Charleston, S. C., where the president boarded the ship yesterday.

The first scheduled stop is at Trinidad Saturday. Two other halts are scheduled—briefly at Rio de Janeiro, November 27, and the other at the voyage's end at Buenos Aires before turning back home.

ORDER MORE SHIPS, GUNS AND PLANES

Mussolini Outlines Plans at Night Meeting of Fascist Council

ROME, Nov. 19.—(UP)—More guns, more airplanes, more warships, more men were voted by the Fascist grand council today to back up Premier Benito Mussolini's policies.

A few hours after the meeting, Mussolini named Filippo De Clu-tis Di Santa Patrizia, now counselor of the embassy to the Spanish Loyalist government, as charge d'affaires accredited to the Nationalist government. The Italian embassy has been maintained at Alicante for several weeks.

Meeting in the dead of night after the Italian and German recognition of the Spanish Nationalists—a gauntlet thrown contemptuously at the feet of Communist Russia—the grand council affirmed the necessity of accelerating the race-like pace of Italian preparedness for war, especially as regards air and sea strength.

It was explained frankly that the present international situation was the reason for the vote.

Premier Mussolini spoke for two hours, explaining his policies—his agreement with Nazi Germany, his efforts to bring Austria and Hungary into an anti-red bloc, his relations with France and Great Britain.

Mussolini's son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, as foreign minister, reported on his visits to Berlin, Vienna and Budapest.

All the big shots of Fascism were at the meeting, with Mussolini presiding, at the Venice palace. Galeazzo Marconi, developer of wireless telegraphy; Italo Balbo, governor of Tripoli; and many others.

It was the first meeting of the council since the proclamation of the "Italian empire" May 9.

It was expected by many that Mussolini's next big announcement would be Italy's adherence to a German-Japanese anti-Communist alliance. As part of such an alliance, Japan would recognize Italy's conquest of Ethiopia and Italy and Germany would recognize Japan's conquest of Manchuria from China.

HULL REACHES RIO DE JANEIRO

"The prize for which we are all striving is permanent peace, mutual understanding and cooperation among sister republics of this hemisphere."

Hull commented with satisfaction on the tangible demonstration of the reciprocal trade agreement between Brazil and the United States.

Hull was tendered a warm reception. The city was beflagged and an enthusiastic crowd turned out to greet him as the steamer docked.

ARREST DRIVER FOR POLICE IN STATE CAPITAL

Cooperation of sheriff's officers here with Chief of Police Hallahan of Sacramento and Sheriff P. Jacques, 26, of Knight's Landing, Yolo county, to Orange county jail this morning to await prosecution in Sacramento on a manslaughter charge.

According to statements made to Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean and Deputy Sheriffs Herman Zabel and Tom Murphy today, Jacques admitted driving through Sacramento but failed to remember anything about the pedestrian Sacramento authorities charge he ran over and killed.

Jacques and a companion assertedly fled the scene of the accident and stopped at Galt, Calif., where a motorcycle officer, not knowing they were wanted, held them until they sobered up from liquor which Jacques admitted he and his companion had drunk. The officer also unwittingly helped them fix a front headlamp which had been damaged when the car assertedly hit the pedestrian.

The accident occurred Monday, according to teletype messages to local authorities. Jacques was arrested at the home of his mother in Santa Ana Gardens by Deputy Murphy this morning. He will be returned to Sacramento by Sacramento officers, for prosecution.

COMPROMISE SEEN IN DIVORCE SUITS

Compromise of the marital difficulties between Mrs. Pauline Potest and her husband, Bill Potest, proprietor of a sheet metal shop at Huntington Park, was being discussed today, as attorneys asked for a recess in the trial before Superior Judge James L. Allen.

Mrs. Potest sued for separate maintenance, and Potest countered with a cross-complaint for divorce. His attorney, O. A. Jacobs raised objection to the wife's complaint today, on the ground that it failed to state a cause of action. Judge Allen granted the wife's counsel leave to amend the complaint, and was prepared to postpone trial, when attorneys asked for a recess in an effort to effect a compromise.

Superior Judge G. K. Soovel today was hearing an appeal of the damage suit brought by James Requarth against Charles Sonneman, of Newport Beach, who rented Requarth's boat and then beached it at Emerald bay during a storm last October, it is claimed.

Appeal was taken from a judgment granted in lower court recently. Hearing of the appeal started yesterday and was continued today.

Court Notes

Weide, of Kansas, to oust his brother, Louis Weide, of Orange county, as administrator of their father's $60,000 estate at Huntington Beach, Superior Judge H. G. Ames denied the petition for removal and ordered the administrator to file an inventory and a final account of the estate within 10 days.

Today's scheduled hearing of a suit brought by Mrs. Mary S. Long, of Newport Beach, to quiet title to property upon which she foreclosed a $5000 court judgment against Grace E. Taylor, former Costa Mesa real estate agent, was postponed by the court to December 22. Mrs. C. B. KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—As my friend Blake Carter might say, Johnny Q. Public is rolling his eyes covertly at Wall Street again, since stocks are booming upwards and paying those extra large dividends. This is the first time since 1929 that stock brokers are more popular than the pawn variety.

Corporations are declaring extra dividends faster than Landon supporters admitting that maybe Roosevelt was the right man after all.

However, 'tis said that the public is showing more discretion in getting back into Wall street this time. Now they're buying the certificates with the prettiest designs on them so that in case of another market collapse they'll at least have attractive wall paper.

Oh well, from the way the lambs always come back for more, it looks like the big crash was no more of a lesson to America than the Great War was to Europe.

DELAY U. S. QUIZ ON COAST STRIKE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The Maritime commission announced today its general investigation of maritime labor conditions, required under the new merchant marine act, will be delayed until normal conditions are restored in the shipping industry.

The announcement was made after Rear Admiral Harry G. Hamel returned from the west coast, where he has been stationed as an observer for the commission.

The decision meant abandonment, for the time being, of a previously considered plan under which the current investigation of west coast labor conditions would have been combined with the general inquiry called for under the new law.

UNIONISTS DISCUSS GOVERNMENT ACTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Drastic federal and territorial intervention in the Pacific coast maritime tieup, designed to relieve Alaska and Hawaii of purported acute food shortages, was mapped today as further peace moves in the strike ran into blind alleys.

A governmental order authorizing resumption of coastwise shipping to isolated Alaska under supervision of the Alaska railroad, operated by the department of interior, sent the northwest strike committee into executive session to determine whether unionists would cooperate.

Conference Called At Honolulu Gov. Joseph B. Poinsett called a conference of Hawaiian officials to consider emergency food measures. The governor said a survey showed sufficient rice, a main staple of most of the islands, to last 11 days, butter 10 days, and poultry and dairy feed seven days. Milk supplies are decreasing but meats and fruits appeared adequate for the present.

Some confusion followed the federal order pertaining to resumption of Alaska trade. A survey by officials in Seattle failed to show what ships could be used in the service. Neither was it clear whether the government would pay wages demanded by the strikers to Pacific maritime workers who worked the ships.

On another strikefront, the popular cities of Oakland and Berkeley on the east side of San Francisco bay went into the milk business in an emergency move following closing of 13 of 19 plants because of labor troubles.

NEVADA SLAYER FACES GAS DEATH

ELKO, Nev., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Luther Jones, 32, ex-convict found guilty in a quadruple murder, today faced a jury's recommendation of death which would make him the seventh man to die in Nevada's lethal gas chamber—an instrument in which he had expressed great interest.

A jury returned the verdict and recommendation against Jones late yesterday for the murder of Walter Godecke, a rancher and one of four men found strangled and shot to death in a river shack last October 17. The state had prepared murder charges against Jones for the other slayings.

District Judge James Dysart will sentence Jones the morning of November 23. He must be executed in not less than 60 and not more than 90 days after the sentencing.

There are approximately 1125 species of trees in the United States.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER PROPERTY OF L. A. MURDER COMES TO END SHIFTED HERE

Settling a legal quarrel between two brothers over property at Cypress, Superior Judge James L. Allen late yesterday awarded a half-interest in the ten-acre ranch to H. B. O'Donnell, and granted judgment for $652 sought by O'Donnell from his brother, J. O'Donnell.

J. O'Donnell brought the suit to quiet title to the ten acres, H. B. O'Donnell brought a cross-complaint claiming a half interest and the money judgment.

He alleged that the property has been purchased in the name of J. O'Donnell, under an agreement by which H. B. O'Donnell was to care for the property for three years, and be paid $100 per month by his brother, half of that sum to apply on H. B.'s half-interest in the ranch. At the end of the three years, H. B. was to be conveyed his half-interest. Then, when the ranch could be sold for $10,000 or more, the brothers would divide the receipts.

J. O'Donnell failed to pay the $100 per month, his brother claimed, alleging that $652 was due. He also failed to convey the half-interest.

The court ordered the deed to be delivered within ten days, covering a half-interest, the court clerk to execute such a deed if J. O'Donnell failed to do so. The money judgment also was allowed.

MAINTENANCE REQUEST GETS OFFICIAL O. K.

Army engineers have approved allotment of additional funds to Newport Beach, while at the same time turning down a second proposal for additional improvements of Newport bay, it was learned here today at the war department.

The request of local interest for a federal appropriation for funds for maintenance of the harbor has received a favorable recommendation from the war department.

On the other hand, a request that additional funds be made available for further improvements in the harbor was turned down by the corps of Engineers.

According to the war department the improvements desired and which were rejected are dredging of certain bay channels and anchorage to depths of fifteen and twenty feet.

In turning down the request of Newport Beach for additional improvement of the bay, E. M. Markham, chief of the army engineers said:

"The Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, after full consideration of the reports of the district and division engineers, and of the additional information presented by local interests at a hearing before the Board, finds that the maintenance of the extensive channel and anchorage facilities recently provided by local and Federal agencies at Newport bay is warranted by the benefits to the increasing pleasure boat traffic of the locality."

"The need for additional improvement is not evident at the present time. The Board accordingly recommends the improvement of Newport Bay, to provide for maintaining the existing east and west jetties with lengths of 1,620 and 2,860 feet, respectively; a main channel of 20 feet deep from that depth in the Pacific ocean to turning basin of the same depth, roughly 2,000 feet long and up to 1,000 feet in width at the west end of the bay, the channel to be 500 feet wide through the entrance and generally 200 feet wide in the bay; a yacht anchorage 15 feet deep, 1,200 feet wide, and 1,700 feet long on the south side of the main channel midway of the bay, and for maintaining the remainder of the main bay area to a depth of ten feet, at an estimated annual cost of $15,000; provided local interests furnish free of cost to the United States suitable spoil disposal areas as required."

Although the allocation of funds for the maintenance of Newport Harbor has been declared as sound by the war department, Congressional approval will be required before any funds can be made available. The original federal project for the Bay was undertaken as a public works project and Congressional approval was not needed, but before any of the regular rivers and harbors appropriation be used for the harbor's maintenance it must first be authorized by that body.

War department officials said there is little doubt the project will be approved.

ESTIMATES FLOOD BONDS NOT TO EXCEED MILLION AND HALF

The flood control bond issue to be submitted shortly to Orange county voters, should not amount to more than $1,500,000, it was estimated today by County Supervisor N. E. West, of Laguna Beach.

West, who expressed himself in favor of ignoring the purchase either of outright title or flooding rights upon Prado reservoir lands beyond the 1916 flood levels, pointed out that past records show an improbability that the lands would be flooded more than once in a thousand years, if ever. Appraisers had predicted a probable cost of $300,000 for flooding rights upon the approximately 4000 acres above the 1916 flood mark.

The supervisor further pointed out that the county will be required to provide only right-of-ways for relocating the Santa Fe railroad and highways, the actual cost of realignment being borne by the federal government in its $13,000,000 allocation to the project.

The appraisers, referring in a report to the supervisors Tuesday, to "relocation of the railroad and highways," gave no estimate of the cost, which West thinks will not amount to more than $100,000 to $200,000 for right-of-ways. JURY FAILS TO FIX BLAME IN TRAFFIC DEATH OF HALLORAN IN ACTIVE CHARGE OF NEW FIELD

Sitting at Dixon's funeral chapel, Huntington Beach, yesterday afternoon, a coroner's jury was unable to place the blame for the automobile crash which snuffed out the lives of two persons early Monday morning on Coast highway, Huntington Beach, and sent a third to St. Joseph hospital with critical injuries.

Miss Alta Mae Miller, 21, Los Angeles and San Diego, died of crushed chest and head injuries, and Virgil Childers, 33, Los Angeles, her companion, driver of one car, a skull fracture. The Childers' car collided with a parked car occupied by Stephen W. Lucas, Long Beach, and Mrs. Leola Claude, Huntington Beach.

George Robert Craco, 22, San Diego, also riding with Childers, suffered skull fracture and has remained at St. Joseph hospital, unconscious for several days.

Perfecto Quintana, 43, Stanton, is in jail on a drunk driving charge, the result of a collision between his car and one operated by Russell Magill, 22, Route 1, Box 200, Anaheim, at Brookhurst and Gilbert avenues, about 1 a. m. yesterday. Magill told California highway patrol officers Quintana was driving on the wrong side of the thoroughfare when the cars collided.

FIVE FIRST AID STATIONS OPENED IN ORANGE COUNTY

Harry Edwards, chairman of the First Aid committee in the Santa Ana chapter of the Red Cross, reports that five first aid stations had been established throughout the county for the treatment of injured persons until ambulances and doctors could reach the scene of the accident.

These stations are located at Russell's garage in Sunset Beach, with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Russell, and Claude Bailey in charge; R. V. Quisenberry is directing operations at the San Juan Capistrano station on Highway 101; Eugene Thomas, at the Thomas garage in Irvine; the station at Corona del Mar is at the Mustard Grocery store, with Mr. and Mrs. James Mustard and Mr. and Mrs. Claude Pallen as the trained first aiders there; and the fifth station is at San Juan Hot Springs with Mr. and Mrs. William Barnes in charge. This last station is to be moved to the west part of the chapter near Westminister with the closing of the Hot Springs.

The station at Corona del Mar, which has treated more persons than any of the others, has given first aid to eight victims of automobile accidents; rescued one person from a burning car, taken care of patients with broken bones, legs, pelvis, dislocated shoulders, and cuts until ambulances and doctors could reach the scene of the accident. This station has also aided persons injured on the beach, such as removing splinters, cuts, and bruises. All stations report giving first aid to injured persons.

When the stations were put in operation in the spring, they were visited personally by Captain Henry Mechan of the California Highway Motor Patrol, who has pledged his support 100 per cent.

The establishment of first aid stations is a nation wide project under the direction of the Red Cross. Mr. Edwards points out that with a total of 887 stations being established during this past year, and 2617 stations have been provided for in every one of the 48 states. With 25,000 persons being killed annually as a result of motor vehicle accidents and an additional 1,250,000 who suffer serious injuries, the Red Cross cannot meet the demands being made for stations. The people who are in charge of these highway stations have had class instruction from qualified Red Cross instructors, and have received either standard or advanced certificates. Their work in the stations is entirely voluntary.

Your membership to the Red Cross aids in promoting this service. Only 10 cents of each membership goes to the National organization, and the balance remains in the chapter. The hunted youth is described as being five feet 11 inches tall, weighing 185 pounds, having brown eyes, red hair and fair complexion. He is a stocky build. When he disappeared, he was wearing a brown outfit consisting of vest, coat, trousers and striped necktie. He wore a large Stetson hat, soft collar, black boots and wrist watch. MEXICAN DIGS OWN GRAVE AS HE HUNTS TREASURE IN GROVE

One of the strangest treasure hunts in Orange county history ended early yesterday morning when 24-year-old Daniel Jimenez, 1322 Lincoln avenue, inadvertently dug his own grave in a walnut orchard at Washington and Lincoln, and fell into it, where he died of suffocation, according to preliminary investigation of police and the coroner.

When first found yesterday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock, Daniel Jimenez was lying face down, partly buried, head down, in a hole three feet deep, 16 inches wide and 20 inches long. Jimenez was believed to be a possible murder victim but preliminary examination of the body at Smith and Tuttle's mortuary, and preliminary investigation of circumstances surrounding Jimenez's activities during the past two days by Assistant Chief Harry Fink, Detective Sergeant Hunter Leach and other officers, virtually cancelled the murder theory.

Gutierrez and his step-children, Albert and Nellie Lopez, together with Daniel's brother, Moises Jimenez, with whom Daniel had lived, and Henry J. Sela, 220 1/2 North Broadway, trustee and caretaker at Fairhaven cemetery, who employed both of the Jimenez brothers, pieced together "jigsaw" fashion, seemingly fantastic bits of information which took the form of plausibility when finished.

According to information of Paul Ortega, Perez Inn proprietor at 1026 Logan street, Daniel Jimenez came to his place of business about 7 o'clock Tuesday evening and bought a pint of cherry wine. He went to the home of Gutierrez about 8 or 8:30 o'clock and offered Gutierrez a drink but Gutierrez declined to take one, he said. Then Jimenez went to the home of Joe Romero, 1044 Lincoln avenue, where he wanted to borrow a shovel. But Romero explained that he had to go with me and hunt treasure. Asked what he was talking about, Jimenez explained that a second brother, Aaron Jimenez, protestant minister and "circuit rider" in Northern California, had visited here some years ago and had pointed to the orchard, saying:

"There is hidden treasure in the ground over there. I have seen a vision which tells me so." Apparently under the influence of the wine he had purchased, Daniel recalled his brother's prophetic words. Gutierrez told police he went with Jimenez to the edge of the orchard but when Jimenez urged him to go back into the dark orchard to help hunt the treasure, he refused and returned to his home. Investigation revealed Jimenez had dug several smaller holes before he dug the one adjacent to an idiosyncratic standpipe, which tragically, became his grave.

"When he entered the orchard, it was the last I saw of him," Gutierrez declared. "It was damp and very foggy. I never saw him again until Wednesday afternoon when I was in the orchard gathering walnut culls. Then I saw his legs sticking out of the ground and I knew who it was."

Moises Jimenez corroborated the statements made by Gutierrez regarding the "treasure" prophecy of his and Daniel's brother, Aaron. A wine bottle and Daniel's hat were found in the bottom of the "grave," and a second wine bottle was found two feet from the hole. The theory worked by police and by Deputy Coroner Lillian Ghaab, who assisted in the investigation and ordered removal of the body after Officer Burnette Lane took necessary photographs for public records, was that Jimenez, dizzy from the effects of the wine he had drunk, toppled into the hole he had dug, where he was unable to extricate himself, and suffocated in a frenzied attempt to get out. It was believed the dirt covering Jimenez's head and shoulders, fell on him as he struggled. The Gutierrez shovel was found in the hole beside the body and a pick, a few feet away.

Sela declared Jimenez, who worked for him at Fairhaven cemetery and in the orchard which became his graveyard, for the past four or five months, was a good worker. He was helping support his mother, who lives in McFarland, Calif., and his sister's four children, who live here. It was reported. Although officers were informed Jimenez was engaged in an alleged drunken quarrel with another Mexican two weeks ago, the quarrel was in no way connected with his death. No marks of violence were found upon Jimenez's body.

REGRETS SHE DID NOT KNOW OF THE GLY-CAS YEARS AGO

Mrs. Hayden Could Have Saved Herself Years of Suffering, Much Expense and Worry Too; Sluggish, Tired Feeling Gone, Nerves Quieted, No Longer a Single Symptom of Rheumatism.

"I haven't the least hesitancy in recommending Gly-Cas to everyone who suffers as I did for I KNOW what it will do," said Mrs. David Hayden, 2430 K street, Eureka, Calif. "Almost since childhood I had been troubled with constipation and always had to take the strongest kind of laxative. My stomach had become affected, became weak, sluggish, nervous and was easily fatigued. I seemed to lose all my strength and energy and had no pep at all, forced myself to do my work and felt miserable all of the time. Then the poison in my system took hold of me in the form of rheumatism. My limbs pained dreadfully and many days I should have been in bed. My flesh felt sore and prickled. In my search for relief I used many different kinds of medicines recommended highly for cases such as mine but not a single one of them gave me results. Then I began to hear so much praise for Gly-Cas—it seemed my last hope and it was not long after I began taking it that I could see it was the very medicine I had been needing for years.

MRS. DAVID HAYDEN

"By the time I had finished my third box of Gly-Cas I was feeling like a new person," she continued. "had I known of this new Gly-Cas years ago I could have saved myself so much suffering, expense and worry. I no longer have a single symptom of that awful rheumatism. Constipation has been corrected, stomach troubles have ended, sleep and my former pep and energy have been restored. It is wonderful to feel so good again, every sufferer should learn of this new medical discovery—it is one medicine that does not disappoint with the results it gives."

Gly-Cas is sold by McCoy Drug Company, 108 W. Fourth St., and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.

Faithful Pet Guards Ruins Where Children Died

A doll buggy and a faithful pet remained by ruins of a ranch house near American Falls, Idaho, where a father shot and killed his three children because "they got in the way." Their charred bodies were found after the father, Adolf Zeltitz, 39, set fire to the home. The children were aged 5, 4 and 2.

TUSTIN CENTER OFFICERS TAKE POSTS AT MEET

Recently elected officers of the Tustin Farm Center were installed last night at the meeting of that organization. The Farm Bureau installation ceremony was used with R. D. Fisher, executive secretary of the county organization serving as installing officer in the absence of President D. R. Gardiner.

Officers installed were: Lynn L. Ostrander, president; Edward Hall, vice president; Mrs. L. R. Stearns, secretary-treasurer, and Frank C. Latham, director.

During the business meeting, presided over by Fred Wilson, retiring president, Latham submitted his director's report, covering the recent election of officers of the Orange County Farm Bureau, building program of the bureau and other activities of the county organization.

Supervisor N. E. West spoke explaining the proposed county water bond election saying that the proposed bond issue probably will be within $2,000,000 with the election to be held sometime in January.

N. M. Thompson, county flood control engineer, spoke on the engineering side of the proposal saying that the project on which the bond issue will be based is exactly the same and the flood control program adopted Sept. 5, 1935 by the county supervisors, including all dams and is identical with the project defeated by the voters last fall.

Dinner served in the high school cafeteria by a committee headed by Mrs. Guy Christian preceded the business session and installation.

M. O. D. RECEIPTS FOR YEAR ARE NEARLY TEN MILLIONS

One of the most active years in its history was covered today in the general reports at the thirtieth annual meeting of the Mutual Orange Distributors in Redlands. Receipts of nearly 10 million dollars, refunds of more than $120,000, and most acreage in its history, and several major moves to make for more intensive sales coverage and representation are some of the points of interest in the statements by various executives and the committees.

Meeting was at the headquarters building, immediately after lunch. Report of the general activities and advancements of the cooperative was given in condensed form by the Finance Committee composed of Wyeoff Hoxie, chairman, Tustin; R. A. Wheatley, La Habra, and J. H. Snowden, Orange. Departmental reports were made by J. A. Stewart, auditor; E. J. Sackett, manager; E. J. Brickell, manager; Supply Department; F. C. Fitzgibbon, traffic manager; Charles W. Horn, advertising manager; A. L. Chandler, manager fertilizer department, and A. E. Isham, field manager.

Bruce McDaniel, general manager, with graphic charts showed the situation as to crop prospects and market outlook for the citrus fruits nationally, and reviewed the questions of freight rates, production costs and other details.

The Finance Committee called attention to the activities, and improvements made, during the year. "Had these taken place over a term of two or three years," it is stated in this report, "they would have been due for approval, but to have these objectives reached in one year is remarkable."

Among the points to which it referred are:

A growth in membership to a total on November 1, of 30,182 acres.

Intensification of distribution to provide special MOD sales representatives in the principal eastern, middlewestern and Pacific Slope territories.

Revision of the inspection department to make for increased efficiency.

Broadening of the activities of the advertising department.

Co-operation of the traffic department in obtaining the recent 8-cent reduction in citrus rates, with a consequent saving of $2,000,000 annually to growers;

Organizing and successfully operating the juice fruit contract in Valencia during the season just past, which brought peak prices up to $38.35 a ton for this fruit and as a consequence gave $600,000 to $700,000 additional income to all citrus growers in the state.

"These are some of the major activities," this report continues, "there were many others, complete in themselves or tied in with these, during the year."

J. H. Strait, serving his 20th year as president, was in charge of the business meeting. A. B. Cowgill, who was elected secretary at the organization meeting of the co-operative, in 1906, and who has served continuously during the 30 years, reported the details of his office.

Points of especial interest in the report are that total receipts for the year were $9,706,263.25; total refunds, $123,487.72; volume of the Supply Department, $398,215.95; credit losses in fruit sales during the year, two ten-thousandths of one per cent.

"The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here—"
By HOMER GANFIELD
HOLLYWOOD, NOV. 19.—Speaking from Rio de Janeiro, Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Dr. Jose Carlos de Macedo Soares, minister of foreign affairs of Brazil, will discuss a phase of the Pan American peace conference (KECA, 7:30).

From the open forum of America's Town Meeting of the Air will come another peace offering. The vital question here to be expounded by four famous authorities is "What Price Must We Pay For Peace?" KECA, 6:30.

George V. Denny Jr., originator and director of America's Town Meetings of the Air, presented by the National Broadcasting Co., in cooperation with the non-partisan League for Political Education, will present each speaker and conduct the open forum which is a feature of each of these broadcasts.

DISABLED VETS 8 DAY MISSION PAY HONOR TO BEING PLANNED BELOVED DIVA BY S. A. CHURCH

A minute's silence in memory of Ernestine Schumann-Heink, beloved Mother of all veterans, was observed in the opening ceremony last night at the meeting of Jack Fisher chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World war at the K. C. hall.

A glowing tribute was paid to the mother love of this great artist who accepted every invitation humbly possible to serve "her boys" throughout the length and breadth of the country, making sacrifices of time, talent and energy in assisting veterans to carry on after the war. It is felt that Mother Schumann-Heink's file will never be filled in the hearts of the men who served in the world war.

A resolution of condolence of the Jack Fisher chapter, D.A.V., was adopted and dispatched to the bereaved family at last night's session and a delegation will attend services in Hollywood.

A feeling of close relationship existed amongst all disabled veterans of this district when it is recalled that their noted benefactor appeared at the annual military ball last February when all her boys felt honored in the hearty handshake and the cheery message she administered to all her boys here.

Sixty members of the Church of the Brethren met last night for supper, in preparation for the Eight Day Mission. The meetings are to be held November 22, to November 29. Dr. Roy Crist, head of the department of religion, of La Verne College will be the speaker. Dr. Crist will speak twice each Sunday and each evening during the week.

Last night's meeting consisted of short talks by each of the Ministerial Board, who are responsible for the conduct of the meetings. J. Roy Teter, J. M. Wynne, Charles Baker and C. S. Davis are on that board. Dr. Crist made the main address, in which he stressed every member participation in the meetings, not only in attendance but also in reaching others with the message of Christ.

The planned meetings are a part of the Preaching Missions being held in all parts of the United States. After four days of meetings in Los Angeles, in which E. Stanley Jones, Muriel Lester and others spoke, the local churches are to continue in their own meetings, lasting one week or longer.

The church of the Brethren is located at Ross and Camille and the meetings will begin at 7:30 each evening.

LAGUNA BEACH NEWS

COUNCIL OKES NIGHT PATROL

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 18. — Recognizing the need for added night protection, the Laguna Beach city council last night endorsed the idea of a "private patrol system," under which various premises would be protected, subject to payment of sharply-scaled sums, ranging upward from $1 monthly.

The action of the council was at variance with recommendations of the Chamber of Commerce, which, through its secretary, George A. Portus, demanded adequate night police protection in the business districts. The communication from the chamber, dated Nov. 15, set forth that the directorate of the chamber had refused to endorse the application of L. W. Sapp, patrolman sometimes employed by the police department, to establish a "private patrol" system. The Portus letter went on to ask that additional police "protection be provided at night. Councilman Charles H. Jester, in moving approval of the idea, deplored the city's lack of funds, and, in furtherance of his urge to protect the city, cited results attained by other cities that had substituted their night protection.

Starfish Drive Planned At Laguna Beach

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 19. — Volunteers are being sought by Joseph Skidmore to assist in a wholesale drive against starfish to be launched here during the minus tides which start November 26.

The drive has been planned to save the mussel beds which are in danger of destruction by the echinoderms or starfish. Thousands of the starfish have appeared in the vicinity of Boat Canyon and the Devil's Blow-hole and are rapidly depleting the mussel supply, according to Skidmore who led a similar drive 30 years ago. Mussels are valuable for food and bait while starfish are useless. Masses of empty mussel shells clinging to the rocks testify to damage already done.

Numerous men and boys already have volunteered to assist in the drive which will require at least 25 workers.

JOHN BROWN MASON SECTIONS OF EBELL TO ADDRESS FORUM CLUB TO MEET SOON

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, Nov. 18. — Dr. John Brown Mason, distinguished educator and member of the faculty of the Colorado Woman's college, will make one of his few Orange county appearances in San Juan Capistrano at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the high school auditorium as speaker on the Forum program.

Dr. Mason has chosen a timely topic, "The Spanish Revolution, Background and International Complications." He will discuss the role the church plays in Spanish life, deal with the causes of the war arising from political and labor conditions and will touch on the struggle between fascism and communism.

Dr. Mason recently returned from Europe. A native of Berlin, born of American parents, he was educated in Germany from Butler, receiving later degrees of Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Wisconsin. "Hitler's First Foe" is the title of his most recent book.

Mrs. Collins Is Party Honoree

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 19. — Mrs. F. D. Collins of Laguna Canyon was honored with a birthday dinner party in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins in Villa Park last Saturday.

A delicious turkey dinner was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. David Montona and family of Villa Park. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bartlett of Laguna attended as well as Mrs. Francis Stackhouse of Pennsylvania and Mrs. Emma Towns of Villa Park.

A load of cedar posts, cut in 1930, recently was sold in Texas as sound material.

MRS. ARCHIBALD IS HEARD AT MEETING

LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 19. — Speaking on "The Adolescent in the Home," Mrs. Harry Archibald, director of adult education in Los Angeles, brought to the High School P. T. A. many interesting phases of education in the home at their meeting in the high school Tuesday evening.

Plans for dividing the membership into several committees, each of which will be in charge of raising funds for the P. T. A. every month, were discussed and it was decided that the plan would go into action in December.

Members were happy over the announcement that letters sent to the homes with school children on Monday resulted in the organization welcoming 33 new members this week. It is hoped that many additional members will join the association as a result of continuance of the drive.

Big Bertha, long-range gun of the World War, would have a range of 2200 miles on the moon.

Santa Ana's Dons have three outstanding nominees for the Eastern Conference mythical football team this season in Bill Glescher, quarterback, Johnny Lehnhardt, halfback, and Fred Erdhaus end. That isn't all as several other Dons are still very much in the running for these honors namely Howard Nash 155 pound guard, Carl Benson 194 pound guard or tackle, Ray Devine 185 pound tackle, Bob Holmes 185 pound center, and Co-Captain Al Titensor 192 pound end. The bee will be on these boys tomorrow night when they meet Chaffey in the Bowl, which should have a lot to do with keeping the Dons fired up for the Panthers.

Orange has a big 195 pound end starting tomorrow's game against the Laguna Beach team who looks and acts like the comic strip character "Lil Abner." His name is Grover Miller and his team mates have tagged him by that nickname.

Coach Bill Cook of the Santa Ana Dons was highly impressed by the offensive and defensive play of the Orange forward wall last Friday against Anaheim and made no bones about the fact that he would like to have a few of them next season on the Don team.

Orange tied Anaheim 6-6 Friday and won the Major division championship of the Orange league. Five years ago the final year of the Hal Welty regime at Orange the Panthers tied Anaheim 6-6 and won the Orange league championship, which proves that history does repeat itself in football too.

This tying business must be a habit this year for the Orange lightweight teams tied Anaheim also. The Cee's ended 0-0, Bee's 7-7 and the varsity game was the 6-6 tie.

A battle of the Becks will feature tomorrow's championship grid game between the Laguna Beach Artists and the Orange Panthers. Rollo Beck, Laguna's sensational kicker and defensive man will pit his ability against Billy Beck, the smashing fullback of the Orangemen. A battle all their own undoubtedly will be waged to see whose name will figure most prominently in the outcome. When Beck tackles Beck, Don't be confused.

Two former Santa Ana Jaycee stars act as line coaches for the Artists and Panthers. Mike Santa Cruz assists Coach Stewart White of the Orangemen, while Bruce Handy assists Coach Maurice ("Red") Guyer of the Lagunans. Handy donates from two to three hours of his time each afternoon for the Artist cause and is not officially connected with the faculty.

ELEANOR HOLM STILL AMATEUR

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The athletic status—professional or amateur—of Mrs. Eleanor Holm Jarrett who was ousted from the 1936 American Olympic swimming team for drinking, remained in doubt today.

The National Swimming Tours, an organization protesting a barnstorming swimming troupe, charged that she agreed to turn professional.

Her new manager, Lou Irwin, denied that his client had signed a contract and said she "intended retaining her amateur status."

Mrs. Jarrett was non-committal but left no doubt about her opinion of the National Swimming Tours.

"Go ahead and sue me, I don't care," the former Olympic champion shouted to a process server while her orchestra leader husband, Art Jarrett, forcibly ejected him from the porch. Mrs. Jarrett punctuated her remarks by stamping her foot.

PICARD NOW IS GOLF FAVORITE

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Before the start of the 19th annual P. G. A. tournament, which moved into the third round today, New York betting commissioners relayed word to Pinehurst that the best odds they could offer on Henry Picard of Hershey, Pa., were 7 to 1. The price seemed short at that time, but today with only 16 of the 113 starters still in competition it was evident the Broadway boys had very sound information. Picard's has been by far the most brilliant golf to date. Counting his 56 holes of qualifying, Picard has played 68 holes in the toughest of all tournaments, and has used 269 strokes, an average of just under four strokes a hole. And it was compiled on one of the longest and most hazardous courses in the country, where par for the 68 holes is 271.

Picard, at the moment, is doing everything a little better than perfect. His tee shots have been as long, if not longer, than any of his rivals, and his short game has been beautifully precise.

If he is beaten it probably will be today when he engages Jimmy Thomson, the siege gun from Delaware, in the three-star attraction of the eight-match program.

Thomson is the only man in the field who can match Picard's tremendous shots off the tee and he has had his short game under control.

Of only slightly less interest were the engagements calling for "Light-horse" Harry Cooper to take on Craig Wood and Bobby Cruickshank to play Tony Manero, national open champion.

Walt Neusel Wins Over Champ Foord

LONDON, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Boxing circles had their biggest upset in years to talk about today after Walter Neusel of Germany trounced the empire heavyweight champion Ben Foord of South Africa last night. Foord, a heavy favorite, was easily outpointed by the blond German in the 15-round bout at Harringay stadium. Neusel weighed 213½ lb., Foord, 214.

DEAN GETS IN SHAPE ON FARM

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Paul Dean, tending his pigs, playing golf, watching the horses at Arlington and looking like an expectant father—the happy event will be around Christmas—took time out today to predict that "me'n Diz" will be in there chucking them up for the Cards next year.

"I'm going to get in shape this winter and make the greatest comeback you ever heard tell of," said Paul, forgetting for the moment that he was the modest one of the Dean pair. "I've been exercising my arm at golf and it feels fine. Remember, I'm only 23 and Diz is only 26. We got a lot more years in the majors."

Paul doesn't take any stock in talk that Carl Hubbell is the best pitcher in baseball.

DEVINE MAY BE OUT OF LINEUP

Ray "father" Devine potential all-conference tackle is the latest casualty on the Don football squad today.

Devine is suffering from a severe bone infection in the shin bone of his left leg and it is very doubtful if he will be permitted to play against the Chaffey Panthers tomorrow night. He ran a high temperature yesterday and unless the infection comes to a head today the possibility of Devine even getting in the game here is doubtful. His place in the starting lineup will be taken by Fred Pinkston, who Coach Cook rates at the most improved man on the whole Don squad.

Coach Bill Cook's latest and finest football creation won't be found lacking on the Bowl gridiron tomorrow night Don fans can rest assured of that, for the genial Don mentor has his high scoring machine in the winning mood and isn't going to be any easy matter for the Chaffey Panther to catch them off guard. Last year Chaffey set the Dons back on their respective heels just when they looked like they were going places and Cook and the whole squad intend to have nothing like that happen this late in the championship picture.

Billed as a championship game the Dons will bend every effort at their command to put the game on ice in the early quarters despite a threatening attitude shown by Panther supporters.

Coach Bill Cook said last night after a highly successful workout: "If Chaffey takes us tomorrow night and then beats Riverside the following week, then they have a better ball club than Santa Ana and deserve the championship, but they are going to have to show us first and not just telling us."

Last year a well directed and highly unexpected pass spelled defeat for the Cookmen and then a field goal later ran the score to 10-0. The Dons threatened to score a number of times after that but only managed to get one touchdown for 6 points.

Chaffey is in good shape except for a minor injury to Gaylord Wager, hard-hitting half, he will be ready for the game Friday night. Orr will not be in the game because of a broken leg which finished him for the season. Orr did not play in any conference games this season so will have another year of eligibility at Chaffey.

WOMEN GOLFERS OF H. B. WIN TOURNEY

The Huntington Beach Women's team won the 1936 women's golf championship yesterday on the Willowick Golf course when it completed the tournament with a score of 56½ points. Willowick finished second with 42½; Whittier third with 38½ and Long Beach fourth with 29½ points.

Yesterday the women's event at the Willowick course, an even hole event, was won by Mrs. Cliff Miller with a score of 41-3-21 after a playoff with Mrs. Pearl Adams, who also scored 41-8-33.

PRE BIG GAME ACTIONS BRING WARNING TODAY

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Campus enthusiasm preceding the California-Stanford "Big Game", traditional west coast color classic of the football season, reached the point today where university officials warned belligerent students that further property destruction in raids might force a cancellation of the contest.

Aroused by an attack on their "raiders" by Stanfordites, in which three of their number were injured, California students held a mass meeting early today to map counter strategy.

The Stanford campus was incensed by attempts of Californians to start premature fires in the huge pile of wood and kindling which the Cardinal freshmen had been collecting for their bonfire rally.

Raids have been frequent during the week. A group of Stanfordites visited the California campus and painted the huge golden "C" on the Berkeley hills a brilliant red. Then they burned a large "S" in the turf of the Memorial stadium in Berkeley, where the game will be played Saturday. Other burned "S" figures were found by irate California students at conspicuous places on their campus.

It was reported President Ray Lyman Wilbur of Stanford warned that cancellation of the game would be ordered if any college property damage was incurred by student rioting.

BROTHER JONATHAN TO WRESTLE KUDO

Brother Jonathan, powerful 240 pound bearded Mormon bishop from Utah, gets a chance to avenge Monday night's defeat at the hands of Kimo Kudo next Monday at the Orange County Athletic club when he faces the clever Japanese champion, in a three fall, one hour rematch.

Promoter Sampson late yesterday side tracked Baby Bob Coleman as Kudo's opponent in favor of the return battle between the Nippon and the Utah rougher. They staged the greatest thriller seen hereabouts in more than a year and fans are eager to see them in another clash. Sampson said in closing for the bout.

Coleman will wrestle in a one fall to a finish bout in the second quarter, facing Floyd Hanson, wrestling fool of the Hanson family and brother of the more widely known Bill Hanson.

It is understood that the winner of this match will meet Kudo later, whether the Japanese wins or loses Monday.

An old-fashioned grudge fight, a throwback to the days of Kid Mexico and Jack Irons, is scheduled at the Orange County Athletic club tonight when Raoul Solis tries to repeat last week's spectacular decision over cocky "Frenchy" Chacon.

The arena was in an uproar when the two lightweights, obviously sore at each other, put on a bar-room brawl that almost spread to the gallery. Chacon got Solis so mad with his sneers and oaths that the easy-going Delhi fighter threw caution to the wind and slugged it out with his chesty opponent. None of the critics thought Solis, the boxer type, could survive four such roaring rounds but he did, and what is more got Referee Jack McDonald's decision. The fight got out of hand. The boys fought after the bell, gouged, cursed and hit low.

By a peculiar happenstance, Promoter Bob Singleton made arrangements to drastically reduce admission rates before the wild fight. It was a lucky break for the fans who are expected to tax the capacity of the 101 highway club for the big rematch. Women will be admitted free, and the prices will range from 20 to 40 cents. Singleton cannot possibly come out with anything but the worst of it at such prices but says he's willing to lose a few dollars to show the bugs what kind of boxing he's offering every Thursday.

Seven preliminaries support Chacon and Solis.

Barney Rees and Art Perez tangle in the semi-windup. They are 105-pounders, amazingly tough little chaps.

The Paul Saucedo-Jim DuFree rematch is listed as the special event. Saucedo outpointed the black man last week, DuFree tiring in the stretch.

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY
MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, knows that the neighborhood is buzzing with gossip over the sudden disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced. Since his disappearance, she has been in Kendrick's funds has been discovered.

Refusing to let others know how deeply she has been hurt, Marcia goes to the dramatic club try-outs and is given the leading part in a new play. Afterward, with others, she stops at a restaurant. There is a sudden knock. Marcia looks a ring that was her mother's.

From her friend, HELEN WADDELL, Marcia learns that Frank is in Chicago, decides to go there to persuade him to return and face his financial obligations. She takes the first plane.

In Chicago, Marcia telephones Helen's cousin, JOHN WADDELL, and arranges to meet him next morning. In the hotel restaurant a waiter offers a slight service. Later she hears him addressed as "H. H. C. McDONALD." He glances at her, then looks away.

Frank Kendrick, aware of the hotel's name, knows that Marcia is here. He has been in the city for some time. Marcia learns her trip has been in vain.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER VIII
TONY STELLICCI has not the sort of young man to suffer inaction when a job needed doing, but, following the holdup of the Dog Wagon, an entire day passed without his even forming a plan for tackling the task that faced him.

Tony's working hours were from 10 at night to 6 in the morning; he then slept until 1 or 2, and divided the afternoons and evenings between his invalid father and his own simple pleasures.

But he passed the day alone in vain. He made only one positive step, and that was fruitless: he telephoned the service station and garage which Carlo, his brother, conducted on the road between Bobbs Neck and Stony Point. But Carlo was not in.

Carlo was the one entirely unsatisfactory element in Tony's life. Having abandoned the ways of industry and filial devotion which characterized his younger brother's existence, Carlo had long since left home and married, and somehow earned a living in various ways, his latest and most ambitious venture being the garage, where Tony suspected, the gasoline line was watered and other service and repairs were of a comparable nature.

Home again, he managed to read a while to his father and to pretend cheerfulness.

In her Chicago hotel room, Marcia Canfield attempted to close a door in her mind on further tormenting thought of Frank Kendrick's latest flight. For flight it must have been, she knew. The shock of meeting John Waddell had been sufficient, her reason insisted, to send Frank forward on brother's garage. But Carlo was not there, Tony learned when he inquired of his brother's two employees, who were working haphazardly on a disabled car.

Starting back toward the village, Tony decided not to let another day pass without acting; he would look for Carlo at his home. He had never visited there—nor had Dolly, his sister-in-law, ever visited him or his father—but he knew the house, a short walk from the garage, and within a few minutes he had reached it.

The doorbell brought no response. Tony stood on the porch, considering. He had an imperative reason for wanting to talk with Carlo, a reason which must forever be kept from his father.

He pressed the bell button again; no one answered. There was a window on the porch, and Tony, with a quick look around, tested it. It was unlocked.

In a moment he was inside the house. An hour passed before he emerged.

It was an hour during which—even though he had come here expressly to see his brother—he listened nervously for the return of Carlo or Dolly; an hour during which he searched assiduously, and might have searched in vain had not an incident of Carlo's boyhood been brought to mind.

In the basement was an old-fashioned trunk, unlocked and full of odds and ends. In the tray were souvenirs, papers, a miscellany of rubbish. Lifting it out, Tony removed the burden and turned the tray over. Pasted to the under side with strips of adhesive paper were several objects.

A few rings, a couple of watches, a small roll of bills. Just so had Carlo, as a child, once concealed some money stolen from his mother's purse, and in the same old trunk!

For some reason which Tony could not define, tears came to his eyes at the memory. Tears which he impatiently, angrily, dashed away as he thrust the stuff in his pocket, as he replaced the tray and its contents, closed the trunk and fled the house.

Home again, he managed to read a while to his father and to pretend cheerfulness.

In her Chicago hotel room, Marcia Canfield attempted to close a door in her mind on further tormenting thought of Frank Kendrick's latest flight. For flight it must have been, she knew. The shock of meeting John Waddell had been sufficient, her reason insisted, to send Frank forward on brother's garage. But Carlo was not there, Tony learned when he inquired of his brother's two employees, who were working haphazardly on a disabled car.

Starting back toward the village, Tony decided not to let another day pass without acting; he would look for Carlo at his home. He had never visited there—nor had Dolly, his sister-in-law, ever visited him or his father—but he knew the house, a short walk from the garage, and within a few minutes he had reached it.

The doorbell brought no response. Tony stood on the porch, considering. He had an imperative reason for wanting to talk with Carlo, a reason which must forever be kept from his father.

He pressed the bell button again; no one answered. There was a window on the porch, and Tony, with a quick look around, tested it. It was unlocked.

his uncertain and secret way. A trifle grimly, Marcia inquired by telephone concerning the schedule of planes to New York. One was leaving within the hour. She did not bother to telegraph the servants at home.

Packing her bag, she went down to the desk. There she received her bill and went to the cashier's window, where several persons waited to pay while a woman at the head of the line caustically challenged the validity of items charged to her. Although the others in the line were impatient, the man ahead of Marcia was coolly putting the time to use; he had opened a leather notebook and was industriously sketching a startlingly if somewhat exaggerated likeness of the angry woman.

Marcia, fascinated by the quick strokes with which he reproduced the woman and her temper, watched unshamed over his shoulder. She did not know that he could have guessed her behavior until, without turning, he inquired courteously:

"Do you like it?"

Marcia laughed. "It isn't flattering, but it is accurate," she admitted. Bruce McDougall sketched his signature, the scrap of paper.

"At last she's through," he said as the woman subsided and pushed some money over the counter. "Now we can all get going."

Marcia thought of the sketch of herself which he had presented to her a few hours before. "Aren't you going to give it to the lady?" she asked, indicating the notebook.

McDougall grinned. "Only when they're beautiful," he said, and immediately blushed. It was his turn at the cashier's window. Finished, he bowed to Marcia and walked uncertainly away. When she turned from the window he had disappeared.

She could not know that he had paused, outside the hotel doors, and asked himself a question, and, having answered with a reluctant negative, had climbed into a taxicab and become an atom in the traffic.

The last passenger aboard the plane, Marcia took her seat and glanced about her. She could hardly restrain a burst of laughter; three seats ahead, unconscious of her presence, Bruce McDougall was busy with his notebook, glancing frequently at his latest model, a man across the aisle who, scornful of the experience of flight, had settled himself for a nap and was falling asleep, a bit grotesquely.

THE ANTI-FREEZE UNDERWEAR FOR MEN AND BOYS

CELERY GROWERS REJECT DEMANDS

STOCKTON, Nov. 14.—(UP)—Operators of approximately 5500 acres of celery land in the San Joaquin river delta region today emphatically rejected a 10-point demand made by officials of the Agricultural Workers' union, who said 1000 workers would strike at 1 p. m. today unless their demands are met.

The demands were served on the growers as harvest of the $2,000,000 celery crop started in the terminous district.

Growers, after an all night meeting, refused to recognize the Agricultural Workers' union and said they refused to accede to the 10-point demand affecting hours, wages and working conditions.

Union officials said approximately 25 per cent of the celery workers in the region were affiliated with the union.

Siamese Twin In Serious Condition

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Luelo Godino, Philippine Siamese twin who is ill with pneumonia while his brother, Simpicio, is apparently in the best of health, remained in a serious condition in New York hospital today.

Apparently, physicians said, the sick twin's condition is no better than it was two days ago when fears for his recovery were expressed.

Simpicio, who for a time attempted to cheer his brother with jokes, was more silent today. He talked with his wife, Nativilad, and his sister-in-law, Victoria, but seldom to attendants or visitors.

Attorney Builds Two Residences

BREA, Nov. 19.—Two more homes will have been added to Brea's rental supply with the completion by City Attorney Elmer R. Gay of the two houses at the northeast corner of Orange and Birch. They were moved in from the Associated Oil company lease and will be ready for occupancy within 30 days. One will be a five-room house, the other a six-room house.

E. E. Anderson is completely renovating and remodeling the property at 117 West Ash street, purchased by him some time ago.

'Hard Luck' Tattoo Traps Suspect

A detective stopped Gail Gilmore (above) on the steps of a Baltimore lodging house and asked for a match. By its light he saw the letters H-A-R-D-L-U-C-K tattooed on the lodger's knuckles. That was Gilmore's hard luck, for he was arrested and brought to Staten Island, New York, for questioning about the murder of his fishing partner, William Moritz.

Students Present Playlet at P.-T. A.

CYPRESS, Nov. 19.—A Thanksgiving play under the direction of Miss Dorothy Hanna, seventh grade instructor, featured the meeting of the Cypress P.-T. A. Tuesday afternoon at the school house.

It was decided to purchase a picture to be presented to the room having the highest percentage of parents in attendance at the P.-T. A. meeting. The picture will be retained by the winning room as long as attendance is maintained.

No speaker was scheduled for the meeting as the date had been changed because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Members of the faculty will be honored with a party Friday evening in the school utility room.

Some of the largest and most valuable timber forests of the world are north of latitude 60 degrees, and mining and fishing industries flourish there.

MISSIONARY IS HEARD AT MEET

FULLERTON, Nov. 19.—Dr. J. W. McKean, who spent many years in Siam as a missionary of the Presbyterian church, was speaker at the annual Thanksgiving Missionary meeting of the Woman's Civic clubhouse Monday evening. He asked club members "to forget all pre-election mistakes and antagonisms and to pull together for the common good of all." The speaker also spoke of the state old age assistance act and promised to try to remedy some of the defects that appear in it.

Announcement was made that women of the club are preparing for a bazaar on the evening of December 7. More details of the event will be published later.

The next regular meeting of the club will be on the evening of November 23 in the clubhouse. All are cordially invited to attend.

IRENE DANIGER TO OPEN CAFE FRIDAY NIGHT

Danigers. As yet, unfamiliar to Santa Ana and Southland dwellers, that name promises to become very well known indeed in the near future, with the opening in the Santa Ana building on Broadway, of the interesting new venture in the community's cafes.

Friday night has been set by Mrs. J. H. Daniger, for the formal opening of this delightful place, which, starting out as a tea room, has assumed much more ambitious proportions, and promises to take prominent place in the social life of the entire community. Its completion and opening represent the fulfillment of Mrs. Daniger's life-long ambition, one entertained during her many years of secretarial work at the First National bank.

In carrying out her ideas, she has chosen a central location on the second floor of the Santa Ana building where the suite of rooms will be easy of access. The main dining room is developed in a white and coral color scheme, with tables and chairs all white, and the coral seen in the beautiful Franciscan pottery service, draperies and rug, and the upholstered divans that furnish several attractive wall and corner booths.

The big tiled foyer will serve as a reception room, while a small room of the suite will be available for smaller parties and also as a private dining room. The same color arrangement is seen in the card room where tables and chairs are of the most modern design.

To assure a cuisine in keeping with the furnishings, Mrs. Daniger has secured as chef, Harry Vines, who came directly to Santa Ana from the University of Idaho where he has held a similar position for the past eight years.

Coinciding with the announcement of her formal opening Friday night, Mrs. Daniger began receiving bookings for late autumn parties, with many scheduled for the holiday season and the late winter months. In addition to catering to the community social circles, she will serve luncheon daily from 11 a. m. to 2 p. m.; tea from 2 to 5 p. m., and dinner from 5 to 8 p. m.

FORMER LA HABRA REVEALS MARRIAGE

BUENA PARK, Nov. 19.—Announcement has been made of the marriage of Miss Dorothy Crowther, a former Buena Park resident, to E. R. Martin, of Compton. The wedding service was solemnized recently at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. William Birnie, of Compton.

Gowned in Alice blue lace and carrying an arm bouquet of pink buds, Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy, of Buena Park, was her sister's only attendant.

A tiered decorated wedding cake centered the bridal table where a wedding supper was served for 80 guests. A wine colored suit with brown accessories was the new Mrs. Martin's choice for a going away costume. Her accessories were in brown. Lillian and San Francisco were named as the destination for their wedding trip.

The bride, who has been employed as a musician in a Huntington Park studio, is a graduate of Fullerton Union High school. Her husband is a chemist employed at Wilmington. The new home, a wedding gift of the bridegroom's father, will be at 1322 Pattee court, Compton.

Jimmy Fidler in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19.—Setting real discoverer of Fred Astaire, Around (Universal): In step with the times (new deals, new political parties, new taxes), the new owners of this studio call their company "The New Universal." The lot is peopled with new faces, especially among the general employees. When Carl Laemmle was president of the company, his kind folk populated the place. Now all those aunts and uncles and nieces and nephews and cousins have been fired. First qualification for jobs at The New Universal is not family blood, but ability.

The only picture in work today is "Top of the Town," this studio's first contribution to the cycle of musical comedies. It is being produced by Lou Brock, about whom I have a story to tell. Brock is the preview. The rest is history, except this funny tag (all movie stories have a funny tag): In one breath Brock's bosses admitted he was right about Fred next breath they discharged him!

One member of the "Top of the Town" cast is Verna Leslie. If you see the picture, her face (but not her name) may seem familiar. Your guess will be correct; she is, or was, Frances Grant, who played the ingenue lead with Will Rogers in "Doubting Thomas." Her career was moving along swiftly after the Rogers picture, when suddenly it stopped short; she could get no more jobs. There was no apparent reason; the same thing often happens in this explanationless town. Brock but discouraged she took a temporary position as cashier in a drug store. Such pluck deserves reward, and Universal has given Verna Leslie, nee Frances Grant, a new opportunity.

WALKERS TO START STAGE SHOWS HERE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Tomorrow night Walker's new theater, Third and Bush streets, will start its regular weekly Friday night stage shows at which time amateur and semi-amateur talent will present eight acts of vaudeville. Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners and all those who participate will be rewarded in some manner.

The show will be under the supervision of Harold (Happy) Simpson, well known master of ceremonies who has a grand prize to offer the winner of the 13 weeks' elimination contest, as he has placed many young people on contract positions who have appeared with him on stage shows in other communities.

O. R. Haan, local Chrysler and Plymouth dealer, will sponsor the broadcast of the show direct from the stage over KVOE and many persons will be able to hear their favorites over the air for the first time in addition to those who will see them in person on the stage.

In addition to the stage show, Walker's theater offers two outstanding features. "Magnificent Obsession" with Irene Dunn and Robert Taylor, returning by popular demand, and "The Case of the Velvet Claws" with Warren William and Claire Todd.

Persons desiring to appear on the stage programs are instructed to apply at Walker's theater any Friday afternoon between 4 and 6 o'clock.

The normal tide wave is about four feet high in the open ocean.

TUBERCULOSIS STAFF, BOARD TO BROADCAST

The Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association will present its staff and board members in radio talks, as a fitting introduction to the Christmas seal sale campaign.

An intensive drive for funds has been planned because of the added responsibilities that have been met with during the past year. If additional examinations are to be made; if more cases of active tuberculosis are to be found so that more illness will be averted and more lives saved in our community, the returns from the seals must be large enough to take care of it. Therefore, the association will go on the air, on the time donated them by KVOE, for the eighth consecutive week, hoping to arouse and establish the public's interest to the extent of lending their aid in carrying on this great program.

As usual the talks will be from 12:05 to 12:15, every day except Sunday and Monday.

Tuesday's talk is titled "You Cannot Lose" and will be given by Ed Farwell of Anaheim. Wednesday, Dr. A. E. Chase, roentgenologist, will speak on "Life, Death and Tuberculosis." Thanksgiving day, an extremely interesting electrical transcription, "Sour Milk Turned Sweet," will be presented. Friday, "The Story of The Christmas Seal" will be told by D. Eymann Huff of Hewes Park, and Saturday, Rev. R. B. McAulay, pastor of the Orange Presbyterian church, will speak on "Santa—The Symbol of Health."

CHURCH WOMEN TO GIVE ANNUAL FETE

FULLERTON, Nov. 19.—Plans are rapidly being completed for the bazaar sponsored annually by the women of the Presbyterian church, under the management of the Forum of the church. It will be Dec. 3 at the church.

Mrs. Gordon Wimpless is general chairman, and the women have chosen for the theme "An Old Fashioned House." Besides the regular features of a bazaar, dinner will be served and Mrs. A. W. W. and her committee in charge of dinner are preparing to care for parties and will have tables available for them. The decorations will be "old fashioned" and the booths will represent rooms of an old fashioned house.

Bridal Shower Is Sequel To Announcement

Following so immediately upon the formal announcement of Miss Aline Colomblini's engagement to David Merle Boyle that the bride-elect was completely unprepared for anything like a gift shower, was a delightful party at which Mrs. Donald McCollum was hostess.

Mrs. McCollum's home is in Hollywood, but she staged her entertaining in the Santa Ana home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Doris McCollum, 1204 South Sycamore street. Chrysanthemums in soft pastel colors provided the decorative effect and bridge was the evening's diversion.

Miss Colomblini herself made high score and received first prize with second prize presented Mrs. Max Boethin. After these had been presented and admired, the honor guest found explanation of the maze of pastel ribbons that swept from the chandelier in the living room. For she was informed that she must follow each ribbon in turn to the gift that was tied at the end. The gifts were well secreted, and as the bride-elect found each one, it was opened and admired before she sought for the others.

For the refreshment hour, Mrs. McCollum re-arranged card tables with pretty linens for serving angel food cake and coffee with fruit and whipped cream.

Her guests included in addition to her honoree, Miss Colomblini, Mesdames Francis Griest, Max Boethin, Charles Merit, Herbert Thompson, Doris McCollum, Leonard DeBord, Lloyd Kinsline, Glenn Gessett, W. H. Boyle, Charles Seeb, the Misses Nellie Colomblini, Rose Colomblini and Roberta Middleton.

Luncheon Compliments Visitors From Decatur

Luncheon and an informal afternoon in the home of Mrs. George W. Gould, 2015 North Main street were enjoyed Tuesday by a little group of friends assembled in compliment to two Southland visitors from Decatur, Ill.

Honor guests were Mrs. J. Andrew Smith, mother of Mrs. J. E. Braden, and Mrs. W. H. Dodds, mother of Mr. Braden. Others in the group were the hostesses, Mrs. Gould and Mrs. Braden, Mrs. B. Martin, Mrs. C. F. Skirvin, Mrs. W. S. Buchanan, Mrs. C. L. Johnson, Mrs. A. W. Gerrard.

Guests were seated at an attractively arranged luncheon table spread with lace over blue. Blue glassware service and a centerpiece of blue and ivory blossoms furthered a delicately lovely motif.

Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Dodds, who have been guests in the Braden home, 108 Buffalo street for the past three weeks, plan to extend their visit until after Thanksgiving.

Popular Feature Will Appear in Register At Early Date

Ann Meredith is coming back to The Register.
That news will be welcome to women readers all over the county, who have missed the fine recipes, the culinary hints and advice on diet and especially the friendly, cheery personality that sparkles from every line of Ann Meredith's famous "Mixing Bowl."

It has been several months since the Mixing Bowl appeared in Register columns, but readers have not forgotten it and its interesting author. Ann Meredith's home at present is in Portland, but she is sending the material for each day's issue of recipes and friendly chat, so that the series will appear without break after it once begins.

That will be at an early date. So Register readers may begin to anticipate adding fresh new recipes to their books or card index files in the very near future.

Parent-Teachers

"Character Building Through Hobbies" was the topic of the meeting of Lowell P. T. A. Tuesday afternoon in the kindergarten of the school. Children who had hobbies displayed them, and Miss Juanita Pico displayed her collection of puppets and explained how they were made. She also gave a short talk on "Hobbies in the School." Mrs. Dale Gibbs presented "Hobbies in the Home."

Mrs. Richard Leurs led the flag salute that opened the meeting, and directed the singing of "Star Spangled Banner." Mrs. Gordon Mills offered a Thanksgiving prayer.

Second grade pupils, led by Miss Lucile McDermott and Miss Ruth Stephenson, sang "Clang, Clang," "A Happy Thanksgiving Song," and "A Sad Thanksgiving Song," before presenting several groups of folk dances.

Cake and coffee were served by Mesdames James Gillroy, Hilfred Stephens, Lyle Cole, and Russell Rice, second grade mothers.

Roosevelt P. T. A. will entertain with a fall carnival tomorrow evening in the school, where dinner will be served and entertainment features will be presented.

Plans for the event were furthered this week when the association held a regular meeting in the school, where Mrs. Charles Briscoe presiding in the president's absence. It was announced that the carnival will begin tomorrow night at 5:30 o'clock, with dinner to be served from that hour, and on into the evening.

Former Santa Ana Weds Charming Whittier Girl

Romance which started on Chapman College campus was crowned with a wedding in Whittier First Christian church Tuesday evening when Miss Macca Chandler, daughter of Mrs. Julia Stone Chandler of Whittier became the bride of Eric Twist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Twist of Balboa Beach, formerly of Santa Ana.

Dr. Cecil F. Cheverton, president of Chapman college, officiated at the ceremony, which took place at 5 o'clock in the evening in the presence of 200 friends of the young couple.

Snowy chrysanthemums arranged against a background of greenery at the altar were given added beauty by the glow of tall cathedral tapers. There was a musical program of vocal solos and organ selections which included Wagner and Mendelssohn wedding marches.

Lovely Bride
Miss Chandler was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Stone, whose home is in Oregon. The bride was lovely in her princess style gown of dull white silk, fashioned with slight train. She wore a graceful face veil, and carried a bouquet of gardenias and bouvardia.

The bride's sisters, Miss Louise Chandler, wearing a pale blue frock, and Miss Marguerite Chandler, in rose tones, were bridesmaids. They carried tall, slender, tapered bouquets of white flowers. The bridegroom's brother, Basil Twist, of Balboa Island, was best man. Ushers were Ernest Chapman, of Fullerton, a former classmate of the bridegroom at Chapman college, and Omar Williams of this city.

Quantities of white flowers were arranged to form a setting for the reception and a prettily-appointed buffet supper. Served with the last course was a three-tiered wedding cake.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Twist left for a honeymoon trip to Lake Arrowhead, the bride traveling in a smart brown costume. They plan to take up residence in San Pedro, where Mr. Twist is connected with the Y. M. C. A. He formerly was employed with Commercial National bank of this city.

Miss Elsiebelle Hurd Receives Pirate Treasure

Pirate treasure for a December bride-elect, Miss Elsiebelle Hurd was provided by a group of gaily-costumed guests who assembled this week for a festive affair which Miss Opal Brownlow and Mrs. Lynn Graves had planned in compliment to Miss Hurd, fiancée of James Portlock.

The home of the honoree's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hurd, 1226 French street, was scene of festivities. Decorations in the rooms and appropriate costumes worn by the guests furthered a pirate theme which had been suggested by clever treasure-chest invitations sent out by the hostesses.

Early hours of the evening were given over to the game of monopoly. Prizes wrapped in silver rewarded Mrs. Hurd and Mrs. Gertrude Warren for their high and low scores.

The many lovely gifts which Miss Hurd has received since announcement was made of her approaching marriage to Mr. Portlock, were displayed to the interested guests. As a suit of this week's party, the bride-elect will have another gift for the new home which she will establish soon.

For last night's hostesses furthered the treasure theme by filling a chest with silver-wrapped coins which guests provided in lieu of shower packages.

It was not until late in the evening that Miss Hurd came into possession of the treasure chest. After following special directions, she found a rock, with skull and crossbones at her place at the table. This gave her final information as to where to find Captain Kidd's treasure. As a record of the search, and of the friends who joined in the festivities, the honoree was presented with a pirate map to which names of the guests were added.

Miss Brownlow's mother, Mrs. Ethel Hutchison assisted in serving a tempting dessert course at tables spread with blue and silver paper cloths bordered with bright-hued stripes. Silver tapers and candleholders and little treasure bag favors contributed to the appropriate setting.

Asked to share the affair with the two hostesses, Mrs. Graves and Miss Brownlow, were Miss Hurd and her mother, Mrs. Charles Hurd. Mrs. Hutchison and Maude Lathrum, Margaret Myers, Bessie Tinkler, Berta La Ferney, Etta Lounsbury, Ruth Milner, La Vaughn Hill, Vincentia Hill, Gertrude Warren, Elsie Hurd, Catherine Brooke, enrietta Stowell and Elsie Millman.

Mr. Portlock joined the group for the latter part of the evening.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

During a war one army had gained the heights of a cliff which faced the enemy position and which had a straight drop of 300 feet. From this vantage point cannons were brought to bear upon the enemy. One of the tactical officers was perplexed by an interesting problem which occurred to him. If a five pound cannon ball is fired five miles horizontally from the cliff and at the same time another five pound cannon ball is dropped vertically from the cliff, which will reach the ground first?

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

The janitor couldn't have dialed the police station number in the dark; try it some time.

When a mayfly goes below the water to lay its eggs, it can remain for long periods, since it "wraps up" a supply of air in its wings before going under.

HOTEL DE POOCH

Hotel De Pooch, Laguna's new "dog-oratory," where homeless pooches may in the future find shelter. The new dog house was completed after a concerted drive by Laguna citizens, and is one more feature that adds to the modernity of the rapidly growing beach city.

LAGUNA'S "HOTEL DE POOCH" READY FOR FIRST CUSTOMERS

By WILLIAM F. KAY
LAGUNA BEACH, Nov. 19.—With startling lack of formality, the newly-constructed dog-house, civic pride of Laguna Beach, was opened this week. Situated at the mouth of Laguna Canyon, surrounded by enchanting vistas including the fire-house, sewage disposal headquarters, police station and city jail; with the turquoise tinted sky overhead, the "Hotel de Pooch" swung into action.

Ten adequate compartments, identical in set-up, will house the dogs who may, at some future date, be picked up by the poundmaster, as yet unnamed, whose office and accommodations are no whit better than those designed for his charges. Each little individual apartment of the ten has, in front, an exercise yard; and, for acclimation, the rear-most portion of the crib has a darkened space, with shelf half-way up, to which the occupant may retire for slumber.

Thus terminates a two-year campaign waged by many local animal lovers, to list whom would be a task equivalent to compilation of a new city directory. The final steps remaining were taken in the rendition of accounts at last night's meeting of city council, when Councilman Randolph Bainbridge, Leslie P. Kimmel, and others who have given of their time and energy were heard. Bidding for job of poundmaster is spirited, and the lucky appointee, be that one whoever Fate may designate, is assured of wholehearted cooperation on the part of Laguna's miscellaneous dogdom. As if notified by grapevine, many strange curs have drifted into town; reservations for individual allotments of dog-apartments are expected to commence Thursday.

CHILD WELFARE BASIS OF TALK

FULLERTON, Nov. 19.—"Character Building" was the topic on which Justice of the Peace Kenneth E. Morrison of Santa Ana talked at a meeting of the Ford Avenue P.-T.A. in the Chapman building here this week. Judge Morrison discussed the work of juvenile hall, and the deductions made from close examination of cases there.

In keeping with the child welfare program of the P.-T.A., the meeting also included an explanation of the work of the school in training for a democratic principal of living. Mrs. J. H. Trexler presided.

Miss Dorothy Voorhees, principal, was introduced by Mrs. Arthur Sullivan, program chairman, who also introduced Miss Helene Hoelgel, in charge of the Junior Red Cross.

Miss Hoelgel presented the president, Beverly Koch, and the secretary, Rose Hooser, who told of the pupil work. Miss W. Armacost, teacher advisor of the student safety council, introduced the president, Melva Jean Virgo, and the secretary, Mariys Cadman, who explained that activity.

The musical program included a group of piano numbers by Margaret Grinde, and a group of dancing numbers by pupils of the Goodsell School of Dancing.

Mrs. Floyd Kiker, Mrs. Mendenhall and Mrs. W. K. Dohner served tea at the close of the meeting. Mrs. T. P. Corcoran supervised this portion of the program.

NEW OIL FIELD IN BEACH AREA CENTER OF BOOM

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Cecylie Oliver, owner of the Coffee Cup cafe on Ocean avenue at Main, is building a cafe and apartment building in the new oil strike area on Delaware avenue between Quincy and Springfield streets. Mrs. Oliver has purchased one of the former dining rooms and hotel buildings of the Standard Oil company at the Standard Oil camp at Twenty-Third and Orange and has moved it to the Delaware site, where it is being remodeled and prepared for the cafe and hotel business.

The only new completion this week was on the C. G. Ward lease at Florida and near Quincy. This well was recently purchased by Bill Andrews and Harry Mitchell from Morton and Thirsk. It was brought in from the 4000-foot sand late Sunday and cleaned by Monday and Tuesday and is now pumping around 400 barrels of clean oil, according to scout reports. This is the fifth well in the new area and is the fifth to reach the 400-foot sand.

New developments this week are the Captain Libby well near the Bowen plant on Steventown street near Alhambra. The Thirsk and Morton well at Seventeenth and Huntington, with Herb Kraling of Santa Ana and Warren J. Bristol of this city as land owners, the Petroleum Company, Neil Anderson's company, two wells started on the C. C. Wilson lease, off-setting the Dunlap No. 2. The McKoon Brothers' two wells on the old Sun Oil company lease. The South Basin well at Delawara and Alhambra, off-set to the Dunlap No. 2. There are also several other wells projected. In all about 250 men are steadily at work in the new oil area on standard wages and this number will probably be doubled, it is stated within the next few days.

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 19.—

Funeral Urn Is Found On Sands At Beach

SEAL BEACH, Nov. 19.—Mystery shrouds the travels of a small bronze funeral urn discovered recently on the beach here, just east of Fourteenth street. Presumably cast up at high tide the night before the tragic little chest bears the identification plate of Lucy Lavina Lesserts, age 87 years, 3 months and 4 days, of Highland Park, Cremation occurred on October 27, 1936, at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, according to the inscription, with Arthur E. Cresce, undertaker of Highland Park, in charge.

Partially opened by buffeting of the ocean or by vandals, the urn was discovered by J. W. Rainey, janitor of the Seal Beach city hall, and turned over to Chief of Police Lee Howard. Notified by the local police of the find, Cresce agreed to notify relatives, Cresce gave no suggestion as to how the urn may have found its way to the beach here, local officials say.

TUSTIN, Nov. 19.—"Interpreting the Objectives of Our School" was the theme of annual visiting day of Tustin Union High school. T. A. today. Members visited the school and teachers explained the objectives of the different courses to the parents.

Ulrich read the secretary's report and the flag salute was led by Mrs. Dahl. The treasurer's report was given by Mrs. G. W. Straw and the membership chairman's report by Mrs. Guy H. Christian revealed a total of 105 paid-up members.

A unanimous vote of thanks was extended to Principal J. W. Means for the noon luncheon at which he was host to the 35 visitors present. It was voted to continue sponsoring a number of card parties and other entertainments to raise money for the treasury. Mrs. W. W. Tantlinger was hostess chairman.

THE NEW POST CEREAL MADE BY GENERAL FOODS

TUBERCULOSIS DISCUSSED AT P.-T.A. SESSION

NEWPORT BEACH, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Edna Hewitt Smith, executive secretary of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, was the speaker at yesterday's P.-T.A. program held in the auditorium of the local grammar school. The speaker confined her remarks to the history, the seriousness and the methods of control of the disease, tuberculosis. She supplemented her talk with a showing of sound pictures entitled, "Behind the Shadows."

She said in part that young people between the ages of 15 and 25 years are the most susceptible to the disease. It is a contagious disease and anyone who allows their physical stamina to wane for even a short period is liable to contract it and in many cases do not find it out until the disease has a dangerous foothold.

Mrs. Smith urged all who possibly can to purchase Christmas seals as the money thus collected goes toward the study and handling of the malady.

A play, "Oh! My Operation," was presented on the entertainment program by seventh grade pupils under the direction of teachers David Cherry and Mrs. Eva Hice. The membership chairman, Mrs. T. Hies, reported a membership of 159 in the association at this time. Mrs. Hies was assisted in a membership drive recently by Mrs. Lettie Vaughn, R. A. Orniston and Mrs. J. L. Chapman. The fifth grade class under their teacher, Miss Jean McNally, won the attendance prize for the day. Seventh grade room mothers were hostesses. Mrs. D. C. Pridham, hospitality chairman, was assisted by the Mesdames Victor Dahl, E. W. Richardson, W. W. Campbell, E. J. Allen, E. A. Cornwell and F. W. Anderson.

Mrs. G. L. Needham reported that $12.75 was realized by the association as an organization benefit from a recent rummage sale held in cooperation with the local Ethel club. The association chairman, Mrs. C. Harold Hopkins, presided.

DEMOCRACY BY DISCUSSION

Dr. Studebaker, national commissioner of education, is scheduled to speak at the Santa Ana High School Auditorium next Friday evening on the subject of "Democracy by Discussion."

This is certainly a broad subject. The word democracy is probably more loosely used than most any other word in the English language. There are about as many different meanings of democracy as there are individuals. It would seem that there could be a whole evening spent on the discussion of what kind of democracy people mean when they use the word, democracy. Does the word mean, voting majority?

We would be glad to hear Dr. Studebaker express his opinions as to whether there can be a high standard of living under a pure democracy over a long period of time. If the Doctor would discuss "Democracy by Discussion" intelligently, we would have him do as Voltaire said: "If you would discourse with me, define your terms."

Public educators seldom discuss anything that is really interesting and important. If they discuss controversial questions it might displease the voting majority and thus remove them from power and the limelight.

There are now few Henry Clays in higher educational circles where they are so badly needed. Most of them would prefer to retain their official position than to be right on important political and economic questions. They invariably flatter and fawn the populace and talk generalities and say nothing specific or constructive.

We hope we have an exception in Dr. Studebaker.

UNLUCKY WINNERS

A sweepstakes winner is more to be pitied than feted. This astounding bit of intelligence is passed on by a Cincinnati, O., man, William Coyle.

And he should know. In 1931 he won $20,000 in the English Derby sweepstakes, and immediately quit his job as elevator operator. Six months ago he returned, disconsolately, to the elevator controls.

In the interim, he reveals, his windfall was melted by repeatedly unsuccessful attempts to start his own business in the garage, cafe, and real estate lines. "I pity anyone who is as lucky as I was," says Mr. Coyle.

All of which is more evidence that the life of a sweeps winner is not that of Riley. If he isn't bothered to death by the blue sky stock promoters or other "sure thing" salesmen, he is pestered by the "touching" requests of suddenly solicitous relatives; or, like Mr. Coyle, he is apt to see his new fortune dwindle away in bad investments.

PROPHET FARLEY

One thing can be said for the straw polls. They brought quite a bit of revenue to the United States postal service.

And it is for that very reason that Postmaster General Jim Farley ought to be more careful.

Before it began, he predicted that this would be a vicious campaign. And so it proved. And some time ago he stated that Roosevelt would carry every state but Maine and Vermont.

In the previous campaign, he had been wrong only in claiming Pennsylvania.

A little more of this sort of thing, and there might be a movement to substitute Smiling Jim for straw vote polls. That might be nice for Mr. Farley, but his postal service would be out of pocket.

Love is flower-like; friendship is like a sheltering tree.
S. T. Coleridge.

ERNESTINE SCHUMANN-HEINK

This year has taken a sad toll of those universally loved who have been called by death. Now to the list is added the name of Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, singer, screen artist, philanthropist, and brightest crown of all, beloved mother to every war veteran, regardless of the uniform he wore.

Hearts all over the world are saddened by her passing. But perhaps after all, the death of Madame Schumann-Heink is not a tragedy. Perhaps it is a thing of beauty, the completion of a pattern to whose weaving she devoted a long and remarkable life. For when conflicting personalities, factions and even nations, are brought together in a common sorrow, surely something is removed from the bitterness of their conflict. To have removed that bitterness, even temporarily, is the final figure of the pattern of life woven by this great woman, and apparent only in her passing.

Ernestine Schumann-Heink loved life. She approached it with a zest that those who came in personal contact with her, could never cease to admire. Whatever life brought her—and its gifts were great sorrows as well as joys and triumphs—she accepted with a fervor that few individuals possess. Is there any reason then to doubt that her approach to "The great adventure" of death would be any less sincere and courageous? We remember that on the other side of the misty curtain that sways between the Here and the Hereafter, there are just as great interests and as great loves as she knew on this side.

Here in Orange county, our sorrow is mingled with the happy memory of her appearances here—always with some general good in mind. Just last February, Madame Schumann-Heink came to be guest of honor of "Her Boys" at the annual military ball of Jack Fisher Chapter D. A. V. "Her Boys" will always retain memories of her kindness, her gaiety, her deep and tender interest in them individually and collectively. Again there comes to mind her interest in George Stinson, the county's famous "Singing Cop." Because of that interest, she came voluntarily to appear with him on a program given in Anaheim City park.

Multiply these two instances, with which we happen to be familiar, by untold hundreds of similar kindly deeds in other communities and in every part of the world, and it might be possible to compute the number of hearts that today are aching over the loss of a dear and personal friend.

For while the name of Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink will glow from the annals of nations, it will be the tears from humble folk in innumerable small communities that will water her memory and keep it green.

INCONSISTENCY IN TAX LEGISLATION OF GLASS

Senator Glass of Virginia is reported to have said there should be some change in the Federal Tax on undistributed corporate surpluses.

If we are to tax income resulting from production, there should be no exceptions which permit some groups to pay less on their production than others. The rule is either right or it is not right.

We, of course, think it is entirely absurd and just a legal form of confiscating that eventually destroys the confiscators. The universal rule is certainly the Golden Rule and if it cannot be applied universally, the income tax on production should not be applied at all. This tax on undistributed surpluses brings home a little closer the inconsistency of the whole scheme of, figuratively speaking, taxing the seed corn—that is raising the standard of living of all the people.

Hoover's Tax Speech Criticized

Editor's Note: The American Taxpayers League has been studying for years the effect of state and inheritance taxes on the standard of living. Herbert Hoover delivered an address on taxation before the Miner's Association in September. The American Taxpayers League writes to Hoover pointing out his errors in reasoning and the effects of his philosophy on the future of our citizens.

The letter is self-explanatory and as follows:

Hon. Herbert Hoover,
Palo Alto, Cal.
Your Denver address of September 30 on taxation presents a constructive tax program which, in the main, all thoughtful citizens will agree to, but I have read that portion relating to death taxes with alarm, as in its application and expansion it clouds the title to every piece of property in the nation; substitutes government for the natural heirs to the family savings; classifies mass wealth as a public menace; and denies those who create and save the right to dispose of their possessions. I quote the offending statement:

"Luck and genius create large fortunes. But the inheritance of great economic power by descendants is not consonant with a free people. We used to rely upon the incompetence of the descendants to dissolve these accumulations. But the old formula of shirt sleeve to shirt sleeve in three generations is impeded through the erection of two or three generations of trusts which are about as dead as the old law of primogeniture. We abolished that long, long ago."

It is surely a national misfortune that the problem of what to do with a rich man's money has become an acute public issue and one that apparently is on the curriculum of universities, discussed in the pulpit, on the forum, and one over which the officials of government have taken jurisdiction.

Assuming that the law of primogeniture is bad; that estate taxes covering two or three generations are worse; and that the descendants are incompetent to take over the responsibility of inheritance, have we not increased rather than diminished the evil by ousting the natural heirs and appointing or substituting by force the government for the "elder son," and for the entire family for that matter?

Against this, the reasoning of some of the Socialists and Communists who voted Democratic could be placed. The simplest explanation, however, may be overlooked. The greater number probably just preferred Roosevelt to Landon, without being swayed by any particular issues.

TRADE BUILD UP
The state department has started a series of elegant handouts analyzing the reciprocal trade agreements. The first one, on the Canadian treaty, was published the other day. It covers thirty-five pages.

The purpose behind the publicity program is to build up interest and knowledge in preparation for further action when Secretary Hull returns from Buenos Aires. One or two minor agreements (including Chile) are now hanging fire, but bigger things are expected later.

DISTINCTION
Letters received at the white house are generally referred to one of the government departments for response. That is if a correspondent inquires about relief, his letter is initiated "WPA" and sent to that agency. The same method is in use with TVA, AAA, FCA and all the others—except RA. For some reason, letters referred to the resettlement administration are not marked "RA," but instead are slugged "Dr. Tugwell."

Farmers Scream For 'Em!

Little Benny's Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

After supper ma said to pop, Willyum, I'm in a quandary.

How's the water? pop said, and ma said, It's about Nora.

Do you want me to fire her? pop said, and ma said, On the contrary it's a shoe of another color. I mean she asked me for a raise of 3 dollars a week in her salary, and the question on the carpet is, Yes or No. What do you think, Willyum, she said.

Ah, that's the question, pop said, and ma said, If I don't give her the 3 dollars she'll wawk out like a will of the wisp after all these years, and of course 3 dollars a week isn't a king's ransom, but it's the principal of the thing, that's what's keeping me dubious, Willyum, the principal of the thing. I mean if you give a person a mile, they'll want an L, and so on till you wish you'd never started, she said.

That's rite, human nature has been like that since the days of the first proverb writers, and it's charge of the family exchequer and soon take over the entire family savings of all families, investing them in gigantic political machines, assembling personal power to feed their vanity and ambition, perpetuating themselves in office and enlarging their power, financial class hatred, race prejudice, religious persecution, internal strife, foreign conquest, and the destruction of human and property rights, and all headed toward revolution, war, and ruin. There we have a full expression of the adopted "elder son" of the family. One-half of the citizens of those nations are on the payroll of the government ready to kill; the other half supporting them—all slaves.

To keep the records straight, it is due those who inherit wealth and run through with it to state that they do not increase taxes, give us more government, incite revolution, or cause extravagance and graft in government.

It was thoughtful of you to suggest that the miner, and we may add the farmer and the wage earner may not pay this tax, but are, nevertheless, interested. If the right of ownership of any one class of citizens is denied or limited to a life interest in the property, what is to prevent the government from extending these restrictions to all classes? When did this government, or any other for that matter, ever retreat or halt from an invasion of property where they kept the loot? If we agree that government can seize the property of any citizen in time of peace, under any sort of circumstances, then we must agree that government can seize all the property of all the people at its option, under any circumstances. When government denies the right of a citizen to own and to earn we then have a condition that shakes the corner stone of every home in the land and civilization trembles in the balance.

No citizen, of course, can escape the terrors of dishonest or incompetent government, and a government that substitutes profit for principle is as dissolute as any other burglar. All nations decay when property rights are violated and no possession is safe from its depredations. Constitution or no Constitution, New Deal or Old Deal, budget balanced or unbalanced, this or that party in or out of power,

Very truly yours,
J. A. ARNOLD.

What does it matter if all agree that property has no rights that government is bound to respect? We must get rid of the law of political primogeniture.

The states gave the citizen a deed to the land in fee simple. Now the Federal government, which had no part in the transaction, proposes to void that title and seize the property without compensation, remitting the warrant deed given by the state to the citizen to a life interest in the property. Any tax levied by government for any purpose other than service rendered at cost is legalized robbery. There is no service rendered by the government at the deathbed. In any event, an estate tax is a capital levy and belongs to the states; the federal government should abandon it and let the states handle it.

Very truly yours,
J. A. ARNOLD.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

HURDLES FOR A MODERN CIVIL SERVICE

One of the major problems confronting Mr. Roosevelt, in his second and fourth years, is the prompt and adequate adaptation of the Civil Service to the steady and relentless expansion of the tasks of government.

One of the pamphlets in the admirable series sponsored by the Public Affairs Committee lists eleven hurdles that must be cleared by the Civil Service in order to catch up with the demands of an expanded government, viz:

(1) The spoils system. In spite of all reform efforts it is alive and flourishing today.

(2) The ingrained belief that the duties of government employees are, as Jackson said, "so plain and simple that men of intelligence can readily qualify themselves for their performance."

(3) The idea that public pay-rolls should be used to support those in need of charity.

(4) The belief that patronage is the price of democratic government.

(5) The impression that a good man in the public service destroys democratic government. In 1928 the President of the United States Chamber of Commerce said, "The best public servant is the worst . . . A thoroughly first rate man in public service is corrosive. He eats holes in our liberties. The better he is, the longer he stays, the greater is the danger." In 1934 the Commission of Inquiry on Public Service Personnel found no evidence of this corrosion.

(6) The firmly fixed idea that public servants are merely "tax-eaters," or "bureaucrats."

(7) The vain hope that laws regulating tenure of office are the cure of the spoils system.

(8) "Home town jobs for home town boys." This in spite of the fact that frequently the "home town boys" haven't the vaguest idea of how to do the job.

(9) The baseless notion that public service is always less capable and efficient than private business.

(10) The indiscriminate criticism of public officials.

(11) The vainest hope of all; that abuses in the public service can be cured by specific laws against specific evils.

OUR CHILDREN

SOUVENIRS

"Well, back again. Did you have a good time?"

"Fine time, Mr. Carey took us all over the place. We saw everything, I even climbed up on the lions at the big front door. We had lots of fun."

"And didn't you like the engine room?"

"Great! And look what I got." "Where in the world did you get them?"

"From the dining-room. We went through it and the tables were all set and everything and Specs said, 'Let's each take a souvenir.' So each fellow grabbed something. I got these."

"Are you telling me that you took those two spoons from the hotel dining-room?"

"What's the matter with that? Everybody took one. Specs got two silver pepper shakers. It was all right."

"How do you make that out? Those things did not belong to you, and you knew it. You stole them. It was stealing. You were a thief and — I can't believe it. You were a guest and you stole silver from your hosts. It is unbelievable."

"It wasn't stealing. We took them for souvenirs and that's different from stealing."

"Not in my mind, it isn't. Here. Wrap those things up in this tissue paper. Pack them in this box. And write a note saying you are returning them because they do not belong to you. And you mail that box and that note before you eat your dinner this night. I never—never—Hurry. Got those things out of here."

The idea that one can take whatever one can carry away from hotels, ships, museums, monuments, gardens, and take off the curse by calling the loot souvenirs is self-deception. Taking other folks' property is stealing and nothing else. Teach the children just that.

Souvenirs are loot, and looting is stealing. The souvenir hunter is in the class with the annoying pilferer who robs gardens, parks and hen-houses. How seemingly respectable people can reconcile such behavior with their standards of morality is a mystery. Yet one person laughingly shows two fine young turkeys. "Lifted them from Nabob's farm. He's going to supply my Thanksgiving table and he will never know it." One points gleefully to a planting of little trees. "Just picked them up along the roads. Thousands of them planted on the banks." Incredible as it may seem one high-principled woman proudly displayed an old mantle restored and set in her country home. "Found it in an empty house, you know. Just carried it off. I find lots of precious stuff that way—old pine, old hinges. Just keeping my eyes open."

All of a piece, this souvenir hunting, this casual picking up. It is bad business. A bad example for children. A bad habit for older people because such loose thinking and its consequent behavior lowers the moral barriers that divide honor from dishonor, error from righteousness.

"Seven Days," the clever Mary Roberts Rinehart-Avery Hopwood comedy of a week in quarantine, will be presented tonight at the Grand Opera house by the original New York cast who played for three years on Broadway.

The Rev. Charles H. Secombe will continue his Sunday evening series of lecture-sermons to young people tonight at First Congregational church where his topic will be "Does a Man Own Himself?"

Dr. T. J. Haughton will leave tomorrow for Denison, Texas, called by the illness of his sister.

Anyone living in Santa Ana or vicinity who plans to attend the monthly banquet of the Associated Chambers of Commerce in Fullerton Wednesday evening, should notify J. A. Willson, secretary of the Santa Ana organization, at once.

"Life" has been absorbed by "Time." It seems fair enough, but the editors of the news weekly aren't the only ones who deserved life.

Why is it a crime to steal for somebody else? A football player remains a pure amateur if a college gets the jack.

Still, the "nine old men" probably have as much knowledge and intelligence as the bright young smart-alecks who sneer at them. It is pure; then do the dirty work where it can't be seen.

IF HE SAYS THAT HIS WIFE RELIEVES HIM OF TRIVIAL DUTIES AND ANNOYING DETAILS, HE MEANS THAT SHE TOTES THE POCKETBOOK.

Political ethics: You were with him when he was right; now you're a traitor if you don't stay with him when he's wrong.

But if Congress could make laws in violation of the Constitution, and no court could interfere, why have a Constitution?

A bloody dictator never gets in by praising the top dogs. He is always a lover of the poor man, fighting for the common people.

AMERICANISM: Regarding carnivals as naughty things to be kept out of town; allowing a carnival to operate at each State fair.

Note on definitions: The national "snap-shot" contest was won by a carefully posed portrait, made with a fine camera, using time exposure.

Leaves somehow remind us of Wall Street brokers. They always fall down when the sap quits coming.

Modest man! When he says the country has been saved, he means that his soft snap has been saved.

ANOTHER EXPLANATION OF AN ALCOHOLIC IS THAT HIS WIFE'S REACTION IS SYMPATHY INSTEAD OF DISGUST.

Victory goes to the sacred principle that promises to fatten the greatest number of pocketbooks.

Mrs. Simpson probably regards it as a personal affront when the band plays "God Save the King."

Come to think of it, nobody considered Stalin, Hitler and Mussolini "big enough" to boss their countries.

"Wearing silk pajamas," says a psychologist, "indicates a feminine nature." How strange that feminine guys are the only ones that make plenty of dough.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I DIDN'T ALLOW PREJUDICE TO OVERCOME MY COMMON SENSE." SAID THE VOTER, "AS THOSE ON THE OTHER SIDE DID."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

VACATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—President Roosevelt declined to be drawn into an official explanation of his Pan-American peace and fishing trip. He countered such questions the other day by saying it speaks for itself.

You may not have heard what it says. Its voice does not appear to have been either loud or certain. But, as amplified by an official Magna Vox backstage, its proper evaluation may be recorded substantially as follows:

The President is going to Buenos Aires to attract world attention to a proposed Pan-American neutrality program among the nations which are not at all likely to go to war. He is going fishing for a month, not only to get a vacation himself, but to give the country one. He has left many a hot problem (NKA, AAA, etc.) behind him on the white house window sill to cool.

FIRST STEP

A diplomatic spokesman for the new deal has been advising observers privately to watch the Pan-American conference for "its effect on the League of Nations neutrality moves." What he means is that the administration hopes Europe will take up and subscribe to the American neutrality pact expected to be adopted in B. A. —But, frankly, it only "hopes."

U. S. diplomats have received no practical encouragement for peace from any of the nations which are likely to go to war.

They will find it easy enough to get the smaller Latin American nations into a neutrality pact, but getting Japan, Germany, Russia et al into any effective agreement will be something entirely different.

All that can be done is for officials to make peace news, talk it up, try to create a new international psychology, and hope something will break. At most, it is a step in the right direction, and, at least, a welcome relief from war talk.

HOLD OVERS

A month ago it was almost certain that Chairman Landis of the securities and exchange commission would shortly leave the new deal to become head of the Harvard law school. Now it is not said to have brought some pressure to require him to remain.

The SEC administration of Landis, one of the original brain trusters, has been successful from the inside and out.

The soundest stock marketeers and new dealers regard him highly. He has followed the line hewn by the original chairman, Joe Kennedy.

The new deal has too few executive administrators like Landis, Chairman Crowley of FDIC, Jesse Jones of RFC, Chairman Eccles of the FRB, and intends to keep all of them.

MANDATES

Those who consider the election a mandate for everything advocated by everyone in the Roosevelt camp should make a study of the variety of reasons why people voted for the President.

They could start off with the unannounced explanation of a prominent Democratic leader, who says: "I really did not like to see the administration being so businesslike to business. After all, the business man is the only one who will take men off the relief rolls, and inasmuch as this is an object of the administration, it should cooperate with business more. There ought to be a friendly feeling between business and the government, and I thought I could do more to bring it about by working within the new deal than outside it."

Against this, the reasoning of some of the Socialists and Communists who voted Democratic could be placed.

The simplest explanation, however, may be overlooked. The greater number probably just preferred Roosevelt to Landon, without being swayed by any particular issues.

TRADE BUILD UP

The state department has started a series of elegant handouts analyzing the reciprocal trade agreements. The first one, on the Canadian treaty, was published the other day. It covers thirty-five pages.

The purpose behind the publicity program is to build up interest and knowledge in preparation for further action when Secretary Hull returns from Buenos Aires. One or two minor agreements (including Chile) are now hanging fire, but bigger things are expected later.

DISTINCTION

Letters received at the white house are generally referred to one of the government departments for response. That is if a correspondent inquires about relief, his letter is initiated "WPA" and sent to that agency. The same method is in use with TVA, AAA, FCA and all the others—except RA. For some reason, letters referred to the resettlement administration are not marked "RA," but instead are slugged "Dr. Tugwell."
